PINCHOT DECLINES
TO RECOMMEND HOW
TO LAY NEW TAXESAgain Declares Larger
Sum Needed to Defray
Deficiencies of All Former Administrations.

MAKES PROMISES

Harrisburg, April 10.—Representative Howard Smith, chairman of the sub-committee of the House ways and means committee which has been instructed to investigate the state's need, if any, of new taxation, stated today that his committee's delay in reporting a decision on the question was not due to any wish to "pass the buck" to the Governor.

"We are willing to recommend taxation when it is clearly demonstrated that it is necessary," said Smith. "We will not blindly report out any bill on taxation until we understand them," he said. "What we want from the Governor is not his advice on taxation but a clear estimate on what the expense of the state will amount to. At present there is a discrepancy of ten million dollars in the amount needed as presented in the budget and the estimate by the appropriation committee. We can't talk until this question is cleared up."

Smith, with others, will confer with Governor Pinchot in an attempt to discover why there was this discrepancy between the budget and the figures of the appropriations committee.

Tom Sims says and means committee, meeting before the session of the House today again declined to take any position on the question of additional taxation.

The committee did report one bill, imposing a state tax of one dollar on all slot machines in which is inserted a nickel or less, and two dollars on all other slot machines. It was estimated this tax would bring in $250,000 annually.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 10.—Efforts were under way in the Legislature today to attempt to pass the responsibility for new taxation back again to Governor Pinchot.

In his statement last night, refusing to advise the General Assembly on the subject of revenue raising, the Governor declared sharply: "Once more and finally I will not." In spite of this it was indicated today that a new attempt will be made.

Harrisburg, April 9.—Governor Pinchot in a statement tonight, declined to "dictate" to the legislature that it should do in the matter of taxation and declared "it is the business of the General Assembly and not of the executive to lay new taxes."

The governor declared additional taxation is necessary "only because of deficiencies handed down from previous administrations" and that any new taxes levied should be applied only for schools. Any new taxes levied, he said, should be by an emergency measure, repayable at the end of two years.

Within the last week the Governor said he had been urged by legislators to break away from his position not to dictate to the General Assembly exactly what it should do in the matter of taxation.

"I decline to do so," he said. Quoting from his recent budget speech in which he expressed himself as willing to carry on the executive work of the state for the sum named.

GENERAL MEETING OF
COUNTY TUBERCULOSIS
SOCIETY APRIL 27TH

The date decided upon by the Executive Committee for the next general meeting of the Clearfield County Tuberculosis Society is February 27. It is especially desired that all district and township chairmen be present at this meeting. The meeting will be held at Clearfield but the exact time and place will be announced later. It will be in the afternoon with possibly a luncheon.

$15,000,000 IS THE
ESTIMATE OF '23
MOTOR LICENSES

Harrisburg, April 10. (United Press)—The total income to the State for 1923 automobile licenses will reach $15,000,000 it was indicated by a final summary of automobile registrations during 1922 made public today by the State Highway Department. The receipts in 1922 were $12,675,390.56 or three million dollars greater than 1921. With the same rate of increase this year's license sales will run over $15,000,000. Total 1922 registration given were: 629,737 automobiles, 19316 motorcycles, 5,475 tractors and trailers, 14,964 motor vehicle dealers and 153,187 paid drivers.

COMMANDER HEALEY
OF AMERICAN LEGION
COMES HERE APRIL 17

The members of John Shade Post of the American Legion are already hard at work making plans for the meeting and reception to be accorded State Commander Healey and his aides who are scheduled to arrive in Clearfield at 4:28 p. m. Tuesday, April 17th, coming from DuBois on the D. R. & P. railroad.

"Sergeant Bill" will be met at the station by a committee of the Legion and escorted to The Dimeling where he will have dinner with the boys at 6:15 p. m. A public meeting will be held at the Court House at 8 o'clock to which the American Legion Auxiliary and the public generally are invited.

The State Commander has a message for both the Auxiliary and those eligible to membership in the Legion.

BALDRIDGE DECLARES HIP POCKET NOT
SUBJECT TO SEARCH; DISCHARGES THE
FOUR MEN SEARCHED ON ALTOONA TRAIN

Altoona, April 9th.—Police officers have no right to molest a citizen and make a search for liquors he might be suspected of carrying when traveling. That is in substance the ruling of Judge Thomas J. Baldrige made at Hollidaysburg this morning when four men, three of them negroes, were arraigned on charges of transporting whiskey.

All the men were discharged, the court remarking in doing so that he could find nothing in the new state enforcement act that gave any police officer any authority to search the person of a traveler.

Horace Frisby, Allie Parks and William Coxam, all colored and John Bogg, the latter a Scotchman, were taken into custody at the Altoona passenger station on the evening of March 31, when they alighted from a train by the state police. Frisby had nearly four quarts of whiskey, Parks three quarts, Coxam a half pint and Bogg something over a quart.

All the men were taken to the Hollidaysburg jail and information made against them, charging them with transporting liquor. They were subsequently held for court by the magistrate before whom the complaint over was lodged. This morning they ap-

A LIVELY MEETING

The Commercial Club of Clearfield threw down a challenge to the boys on the farms of Clearfield county at its meeting last evening when, to a man, they signed up as sponsors. The Potato Club plan had been explained to the Commercialites at a prior meeting and last night they just gobbled up every printed contract in sight. The speaker in behalf of the potato club came with only forty-three of the printed forms which were passed about the tables as far as they would go. In less than five minutes all of the forty-three contracts were filled out and at least forty more who were present will sign when the contracts are presented to them.

Boys of the farms of Clearfield county, this means that forty-three business men of Clearfield have already signed up to furnish you with two and a half bushels of disease free seed potatoes in accordance with the plan outlined. If you do not know what this plan is, get in touch with the County Agent at once or write direct to The Progress for information. According to our information more than a half hundred boys have already applied for membership, but come ahead, we believe the Commercial Club is ready to furnish the spuds for a half hundred more. In fact we know it for that Commercial Club will go the limit.

And so they will, on any good proposition, as was evidenced at last night's meeting. Every committee reported action and accomplishment. Especially pleasing was the report of Committeeman Bill Sheeder that the Home Builders Corporation stock was handsomely oversubscribed.

New members taken in last evening were R. Blair Wilson of the Dodge agency; O. W. Bennett of the Gearhart Knitting Machine Company; M. O. A. Sahm of the N. Y.

Following the public meeting at the Court House a smoker will be held in the American Legion rooms in the County National Bank building to which all ex-service men are invited.

Soviet Postpones Trial
of Prominent Churchman
Until Tuesday, April 17

Moscow, April 10.—The Russian Government today postponed until April 17th the trial of the Metropolitan, Tikhon, Patriarch of all Russia. Dr. Tikhon was to have been tried tomorrow for resistance to the Soviet ruling, providing for sequestration of church property.

Protests against this trial have been received from many parts of the world following the execution of Mgt. Budkevich and the sentencing to ten years imprisonment of Arch Bishop Zepiak.

Where Do We Go From Here

A Resume of the Political Situation In
Clearfield County

The important political campaign in Clearfield county in the year of our Lord 1923 appears to be about as backward or difficult as the spring and regardless of the fact that the Judgeship and the important offices of County Commissioner, County Controller, Prothonotary and Register and Recorder are to be filled, there are yet existent and rampant on the highways and byways of the county less than a baker's dozen of candidates for any and all the offices to be filled at the November election this year.

The only avowed candidate for the President Judgeship, that is the only patriot thus far to express his willingness to be impressed into the people's service, is Hazard A. Murray, Esq., who studied law under the tutelage of his distinguished father, the late Hon. Thomas H. Murray, who during his lifetime assisted in elevating two of his law partners to the bench in Clearfield county. The younger Murray is willing to make it three judges out of Thomas H. Murray's office and following the first announcement of his candidacy to his personal friends ten days ago, has proceeded to really pursue the voters and is now actively advancing his candidacy throughout the county.

So far Murray's is the only hat in the ring, but it is not expected to long remain so, as there are no less than ten or a dozen other Republicans and Democrats, too, pussyfooting about, attempting to muster up courage sufficient to cross lances, not only with Murray, but every and sundry other disciple of Blackstone with

BLACKHAND REIGN
OF TERROR GRIPS
CHICAGO; TWO DIE

Chicago, April 10.—Two men were killed and three buildings bombed in blackhand reign of terror here today.

Stanley King, a pianist, believed to have been an innocent victim was killed when a bomb was hurled from an automobile at the apartment where he lived as he was about to enter.

King's bride, who was waiting for her husband to return from work ran into the street crying: "I knew it" and collapsed.

Joseph Polubna, aged forty-five, an Italian, was shot to death on the street of "Little Italy." Two men walked up to him, fired three shots each into his body and fled. Police blame "blackhanders" for the shooting as well as for the bombing.

SUPREME COURT IS AGAINST FIXING OF
WAGES BY STATUTE

Washington, April 9.—Wages are not to be fixed by law, the Supreme Court, dividing by 5 to 4, decided today in a case brought to test the constitutionality of an act of Congress fixing minimum wages for women and minor girls in the district of Columbia.

FOUR CHILDREN BURN
TO DEATH

Sioux City, Ia., April 10.—Five persons, including four children, were burned to death last night when fire destroyed the George Baab farm house near Whiting, Iowa, according to word here today.

The dead: John Baab, aged 41, brother of the owner, and four children of George, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baab and two children narrowly escaped in their night clothes. The origin of the fire is unknown.

NEW FAIR MANAGER PLUNGES INTO THE
TASK WITH DETERMINATION TO ECLIPSE
ALL FORMER EFFORTS; OFFICE IS OPENPolicy of Liberal Premiums to Be Continued; the Eighth Annual Fair to Be the Result of Seven
Successful Fairs and Not An Experiment

CHARLEY CALLAHAN IS NEW MANAGER

Clearfield County's Big Fair which will be held here on September 25, 26, 27 and 28 is already under way. The Fair Association at a recent meeting elected Charles Callahan the Fair Manager and judging from the way that he is pitching into the work he is going to be more than a fair manager. The new manager and the Fair Committee have already outlined a program that embodies about every up to date idea in agricultural activities and will eclipse all former efforts.

The Clearfield County Fair has passed the experimental "feeling of the way" stage and every action taken now is the result of a ripened experience. It is working on a sound foundation based upon seven successful fairs, each of which has eclipsed the former one in attendance, penmanship, exhibits and attractions. To further this success and carry it forward with each year, to the greater benefit of the industry of agriculture and the exercising of economy and good judgment which the committee feels will be the result under Mr. Callahan's management. The fundamental idea of the Committee is a continued liberal policy in the matter of premiums.

This should encourage the farmers to begin right now to lay their plans for raising special exhibits for the fair. Most assuredly one cannot expect to delay deciding to take their product to the fair until the fall of the year. The fellows who carry off the premiums lay their plans early in the Spring and work for perfection. Let all work together now for a Fair that will be the talk of the State.

Special Attention.
To Farm Needs By
Employment Bureau Shot Down By French

Harrisburg, April 10.—(United Press)—The State Employment Bureau has been directed to give special attention to the farmers who are making requisitions for farm hands daily in all parts of the State, according to the regular employment report announced here today.

In the northwest corner of the State it was reported that farmers here are suffering from the scarcity of help and the fact that wages are considerably higher are planning to plant less acreage this year than in 1922.

In the eastern part of the State the Philadelphia employment office reported that the demand for farm labor greatly exceeded the supply. Requests for farm labor are numerous and urgent the Harrisburg office reported for the central part of the State.

The Pittsburgh report for the western part of the State said "This is too early in the season to come to a conclusion on the supply and demand for this class of work but it is our opinion that there will be an acute shortage of farm help within the coming month."

In the summary of the employment report it was stated that shortages of unskilled and skilled workers exist throughout the State in agriculture common labor, domestic help, metals and printing.

SON OF JUDGE
HOCKENBERRY DIES

George Hockenberry, aged about 35, and son of the late Associate Judge John Hockenberry, dropped over dead at his home in Chest township Monday evening last. The deceased was making ready to retire for the night and stooped over to untie his shoe, when the final summons came and he fell over on the floor dead. He leaves a widow and several children.

STUYVESENT FISH DIES

New York, April 10.—Stuyvesant Fish, director of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad and of the National Park bank, died suddenly here today.

Fish was 72 and was born in New York. He acted as Secretary of State in the cabinet of President Grant.

YOUNG MAN, HOW ABOUT THIS FOR AN OUTING?

If you are interested in the C. L. Evans Military Training Camp at Camp Meade, Md., get in touch with Col. Fred B. Kerr at once. Clearfield County is entitled to forty young men getting this free training. Only nine have yet signed up. Get busy at once. The camp begins June 26 and continues until July 25. Take this course and enjoy a real Fourth of July in the uniform of your Uncle Sam.

Curwensville's Own Column

Last night District Deputy Grand Master Clair Davis, came up from Clearfield and installed the following officers of Bethesda Lodge No. 821: Noble Grand, Harry Addleman; vice grand, N. D. Shirey; trustee, A. G. Woodward. Ernest Aughenbaugh was selected to represent this lodge at the coming session of the Grand Lodge to convene at Allentown.

Several signs have been nailed to poles at each square, between Locust and Pine streets. The signs are painted red, the letter being white, and reading "NO TURNING HERE." Now we will see what we see.

We have been requested to announce officially the marriage of Mr. Fred S. Lowther, of Altoona, and Miss Lora Newcomer, of Curwensville, which event took place in Brookville on Friday, March 9th, 1923. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Van Zort, pastor of the First Baptist church of Brookville. Both bride and groom have many friends in Curwensville and vicinity who will wish them bon voyage in their new relation. They expect to make their home in Altoona where Mr. Lowther will engage in the drug business.

Harry Gates who was so seriously ill for three weeks past, has passed over the danger line and is getting along nicely, and if no relapse or unforeseen complications arise, will soon be about and on his feet once more and assume personal supervision over his hardware store.

The following Curwensville folks attended the funeral of Mrs. Ross at Grapian yesterday: Mrs. Emerson Weber, Mrs. Roy Barger, Mrs. John Haley, Mrs. Ralph Norris and Miss Hall Cleaver.

Harold Bottorf, of State College, was a town visitor a few days this week. He is a member of the Graff orchestra. His father, Linn Bottorf was at one time Pennsylvania station agent in Curwensville, several years prior to his death.

Miss Corine Roth is ill at her home on Bloomington avenue. Mrs. Roth who passed through a sick spell is now able to be up and about again.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith, of New York, arrived in Curwensville on Saturday for a visit with relatives. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Helen Thompson.

Berrett Caldwell, who was seriously ill in a Williamsport hospital last week, was brought to his home in this place on Sunday and is considerably improved in health.

Ashley McDowell, who operates a photo studio in Tyrone, came home last week and spent Sunday and several days this week. He had not been feeling very chipper for some time and decided a few days away from business would not come amiss.

The Penn Public Electric Company is extending its line for a considerable distance along the Bailey road, from the Leathers home to Lieb's chicken farm. This extension for light will certainly prove a boon to the folks who live out in that vicinity.

A private telephone line is being installed between Lumber City and Heburnia. The wires are being attached to the electric light poles. The promoters are having some little trouble with persons who own lands, but no doubt this will be settled amicably in a short time and the new line put into service.

Samuel Williams, South Side, announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Erie Williams, to James C. Booth, the ceremony having been performed at Clearfield on Wednesday, March 28th, 1923. Comrade Booth certainly pulled one over on his Legion friends, who never anticipated that he was seriously thinking of entering into the state of matrimony.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leshner motored over from Philipsburg Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Leshner's mother, Mrs. Maggie Whittaker, on Susquehanna avenue.

Alex Kantar left for Pittsburgh on Sunday having spent the Easter season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kantar, on North Thompson street.

PINCHOT DECLINES

"It is the business of the General Assembly and not of the executive to lay new taxes," he said. "It is the very essence of democracy, such democracy as the American people have set up and take just pride in. Therefore, it is the business of the General Assembly and not the executive to decide what new taxes shall be laid."

"If the General Assembly will, in the appropriation bill, provide the power of adjustment which lump sums give, and will make certain relatively unimportant revisions of law to permit a few other adjustments, this administration will be responsible for carrying on the executive work of the Commonwealth, excluding education, without additional taxes and at an average reduction of more than one-quarter lower than the appropriation of the present two years."

C. Edgar M. Westcott, of the State Highway Department; W. Paterson Alderdice of the Pig & Whistle Shop, and G. Webb Shillingford of the Empire Coal Company.

The speaker of the evening was Charles A. Conklin of the Western Electric Lamp Company who gave the club some inspiration along the lines of city lighting. As the president in a witty flight said, his talk was illuminating.

A feature of the evening was the trio by the big three. Pitcher of the Pennsylvanians, Holden of the B. R. & P., and Sahn of the N. Y. C. Referring to them as the "Big Three" President Frantz compelled them to sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee. Pitcher sang high, Sahn low and Holden carried the air.

An important letter to shippers relating to transportation difficulties was read as follows: Mr. Randall B. Brubaker, Secy. Commercial Club Clearfield, Pa.

Dear Sir: At the present time there is a considerable shortage of freight cars throughout the country due to the fact that a great many cars are held under load and not being promptly released or unloaded and loaded by shippers and receivers of freight.

I would greatly appreciate it if you would bring this situation before the members of the Commercial Club especially those who are shippers and receivers of carload freight, requesting them to load and unload cars as promptly as possible regardless of whatever privileges they may have under the Free Time Clause. Every day saved in the release of a car means just that many more cars made available or the number of cars used for more trips and by so operating they are not only helping themselves but the community at large.

One example in this connection is that on a certain railroad in New England there were 62,393 cars on March 8th which is more than 20,000 cars in excess of the minimum number required for normal business on that line. This is approximately 7,000 cars more than was on that line rails at any period during the war.

Therefore, we earnestly request your co-operation in bringing this situation before those concerned with a view of assisting in overcoming the present car shortage.

Very truly yours, (Signed) G. E. Taylor, Div. Freight and Passenger Agt. New York Central Lines

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Coming events are said to cast their shadows before them. We see by the papers that President Harding has purchased the Ohio farm on which he was born. He may be preparing to start an individual "back to the farm" movement after the 1924 election.

At the last gubernatorial election the Democratic candidate, with true Democratic thick-headedness, picked upon "Finegan and Fineganism" as the rack upon which to build the foundation of his campaign. Gifford Pinchot is the result. But notwithstanding the boomerang effect of the attack upon the head of the State Educational Department several Democratic editors have not yet forgotten their partisan bias and regardless of the facts which make adverse criticism of Finegan's administration of our school affairs a real joke and acknowledgement of absolute ignorance of state educational affairs, and continue to slam away regard.

That being so the following extract from an editorial in last Wednesday's Democratic Pittsburgh Post ought to serve to at least keep these knockers quiet, if it doesn't cause them to see the error of their ways. In discussing Governor Pinchot and his announced intention of "cleaning up the mess" at Harrisburg, the Post editor says:—

"The public, of course, looks to the Legislature to do its full part toward the cleaning up of the 'mess.' One of the features discussed with positiveness by the Governor is that of education. He declared himself unwaveringly for progress for higher education as well as for the common schools.

In this connection it cannot be impressed too much upon the Governor that progress for public education in Pennsylvania demands the reappointment of the man under whose leadership such great strides have been taken—Dr. Thomas E. Finegan, state superintendent of public instruction. All the able committees that have investigated the operation of the new system of the public schools in this state have paid tribute to it. As Dr. Finegan is largely the designer of that system, and has furnished admittedly capable leadership for its operation, the best interests of the cause of public education in the state demand his reappointment. Such action should be taken now, while the Legislature is in session and confirmation by the Senate can be obtained.

While cleaning up the 'mess' in other activities, the Governor should guard against the creation of another, which would result if a suspension is permitted to hang over the schools or the blunder be made of not reappointing an educational leader of proved ability and integrity."

A lot of bootleggers and moonshiners who have thus far escaped the dragnet of the law, are very much incensed over the new Pinchot dry law, but not so the twenty-five or thirty liquor law violators who were arrested in Clearfield county prior to the inauguration of the present drastic statute. These violators are all indicted under the Woner Act and as the Woner Act has been repealed by the Pinchot act the lawyers say it will be impossible to try, convict or punish a man or woman under the terms of a law which no longer exists. Funny how the devil takes care of his own—sometimes.

How there came to be a Prince of Wales is explained by the following tradition: The Welsh were chafing under English rule, and wanted a prince of their own, "born in Wales, and who could speak no other language." The then King of England had gone to his castle in Wales to study the conditions and hear complaints of the Welsh people. While there his queen gave birth to a son. Soon afterwards a large throng of Welsh people gathered before the door of the castle to demand a prince of their own. The king, brought out the new baby and addressing the multitude said: "Here is your prince. He was born on your own soil, and speaks no other language." And so ever after the eldest son of the king was called the Prince of Wales.

testimony in the above entitled case and to report the same with form of Decree hereby gives notice that he will sit for the purpose of his appointment at the office of Miller & Hartwick, County National Bank Bldg., Clearfield, Pa., on Friday the 4th day of May, 1923, at 10 o'clock a. m., when and where all parties interested may attend if they so desire. WITH THE COMING OF SPRING COMES A DESIRE FOR THE

New Home Furnishings

This is the time of the year when you are planning to make your home more attractive after the long winter and where better might those plans be aided than in our vast furniture section?

Two whole floors devoted to ideas and those things that will help you in carrying out those ideas, are yours to command.

A Springtime Selling Of Fine Furniture

The woman who is keenly interested in making her home attractive—and what woman is not!—will feel the magnitude of this selling of Furniture the minute she steps into Furniture Section here. It offers her Furniture for porches or interiors in the Spring's most attractive pieces—at prices much lower than would ordinarily be anticipated.

New Linoleum at New Lower Prices Just Now

Linoleum! In the kitchen it is the "get clean quick" floor covering—also so in the pantry—the little vestibule the ice man steps into each day to fill your ice chest—indeed many other places in the modern home or apartment.

Armstrong's Linoleum
For Every Floor in the Home

New Linoleum here, we are sure, will interest you. Patterns, quality and price are absolutely right.

We have a new method of laying Linoleums that will add to its life and be well worth letting us explain to you.

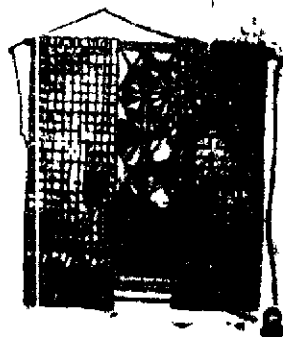

A New Rug or So Enhances the Home After Housecleaning

Just a new Rug sometimes makes a room spic span new in appearance. Rugs, after all, next to your walls, are the largest background you have for your home things. This selling features Rugs that cannot fail to provide you with a splendid selection—Rugs that will enhance other things in your rooms. Tapestry Rugs in all the sizes from 6x9 up to 10-6x13-6 priced from $15.00 to $37.50 Axminster Rugs from 4-6x6-6 up to the big sizes, 11-3x15, priced from $17.50 to $65.00 Velvet Rugs from 7-6x9 up to 8-3x10-6 and 9x13, priced from $29.00 to $60.00

Nothing Brightens Up a Room at Slight Expense More Than New Curtains

Hang new Curtains in any room and the room takes on a new atmosphere at once. There's something about the brightness of the new hangings that adds merriment and yet takes very, very little from the pocketbook.

And in our Drapery Section we have everything from the bright little sash Curtain Material up to the most intricately woven Lace Curtains. Then we have all the other draperies your brightening scheme would call for.

Final candidate following each among the most likely of these. Chase, Esq., of the firm of Chase, one of our most successful younger school lawyers. With the backing of the strong Chase faction and a large personal acquaintance should prove to be a formidable candidate.

It is also possible that the District Attorney John C. Arden, while W. C. Miller and A. Woodward, among the leaders of the "have hopes" that may bloom before September rolls around.

On the Democratic side in addition to J. Bell, the most likely judicial candidate is W. C. Penta, Esq., of DuBois. He comes of old time-honored Democratic Brady township stock, is a DuBois citizen, with Grange and other affiliations that will require any and every other candidate to get in with Penta if he finally decides to get in, which it is said he may do in a very short time.

While, as we have already stated, this one announcement has been actually made the bee is buzzing in 70 less than a dozen legal bonnets.

Political Situation Up in the Air.

There is thus far a dearth of announced candidates for the other offices to be filled, although the woods are full of potential or problematical candidates, who are hanging back at present to read the signs of the political.

A patent to all, the erstwhile Republican organization in the county is today in a state of utter confusion with the rank and file ready and anxious to be led, but no leader of the near leadership calibre rises above the political horizon except Pinchot. His name is, undoubtedly, to the old organization crowd and waiting and hoping against hope for an Old Guard Moses. The situation in the state has its reflection in this county and until the re-organization of the old organization gets its legs under it and leaders and policy makers upon there will be little or no showing of candidacies.

The independent or always anti-Republican crowd in the county, which has been able to "put the cleaver" on the organization slate with painful regularity the past couple of years, is being Pinchot almost to a man, and primary this year is destined to be a county leadership in Clearfield county for several years to come. The measure declares there will be a real battle for supremacy between the two factions of political thought in the county and to that end prophesy that the Republican candidate will go in to a very tight fight unopposed and the "organization crowd" and the new independent will each have a full hand in the field for all the offices. The line of cleavage will be drawn clearly in the County Controller's race.

The present Controller, Grant H. Thompson, was "put across" by the "organization," and hopes to succeed himself, while his chief competitor for the appointment, Milford Bratton, also of Clearfield, is being groomed for the nomination by the other side and is expected to announce in due time. This division will follow all down the line and the fight will be to the finish, 'tis said.

No Treasurer To Elect.

On account of the fact that the late Amos Rumberger died during the second year of his term and his daughter Miss Gertrude was elected at the November election following to succeed him, something was said at the time by the "captains of politics" interested that Miss Rumberger would resign in the middle of her term or at the end of this year and thus allow a successor to take her place at the expiration of the four years her father was chosen for. No one ever heard Miss Rumberger make such a statement, which would have been illegal in itself, and as she was elected and commissioned for four years has no intention of resigning and there will be no County Treasurer to elect before the fall election of 1925.

Lots of County Commissioners.

The substantial increase in the salary of the County Commissioners office will bring a lot of substantial candidates for that office into the field, just as soon as the present legislature adjourns and the political skies clear long enough for the factional lines to form. Up to date the following have been mentioned by their friends for the position:

Republicans.—Jesse E. Dale and T. E. Wemer, of DuBois, present incumbents; Charles S. Strong of Ansonville; Ira Matthews, of Irona; John G. Maines, of Bradford township; Joseph E. Phillips, of Clearfield; Fred J. Dyer, of Curwensville.

Democrats.—M. L. Farrell, of Clearfield, present incumbent; W. D. Little, of West Decatur; J. K. Wrigley, of Curwensville; Harrison Strawn, of Goshen township; Bernard Rice, of DuBois; T. A. Bauman, of Woodward township; George J. Weber, of Troutville borough.

For County Controller on the Democratic ticket James A. McPherson, the Lawrence township farmer, is the only name mentioned.

Two Prothonotary Candidates.

Thus far the Prothonotary fight looks like a repetition of that of four years ago with Geo. W. Ralston, who wants to be re-elected, carrying the Republican banner, and Squire John Scollins opposing him on the Democratic ticket.

For Register and Recorder.

Some of his friends are urging Ed B. Chase to be a candidate for re-election, while Art Weber, of DuBois, and W. H. Nupp, of Sandy township will also contest for the Republican nomination.

On the Democratic side Chester Brown, of O'Shanter, and E. V. Milberg, of Clearfield, are said to be arranging to enter the race.

This will be a highly important year in Clearfield county politics and while the campaign is slow in getting started it is going to be a hummer long before the idea of next November.

Superintendent and Mine Foreman To Answer For Death Of 77 At Spangler

Elensburg, Pa., April 7.—County Detective G. E. Whited, acting under instructions from District Attorney D. P. Weimer, lodged a charge of involuntary manslaughter against the superintendent and mine foreman of Reilly mine No. 2, at Spangler, where an explosion on November 6 caused the death of seventy-seven men. William Young is superintendent and Owen J. Flanagan is mine foreman. It was charged that these men, as executives, were permitting practices contrary to the demands of safety and thus were responsible for the disaster.

Honk, Honk Of The Wild Geese Heard Several Times Last Night

Thousands of wild geese have been flying north over Clearfield in an almost endless string the past couple of days and nights, and we guess it might not be out of place at this time to assert that at last "spring has come."

The continued honk, honk, honk of the aerial visitors was heard at various times during last night while this morning about 9 o'clock an immense flock of geese flew over the town in the direction of old Doc Cook's undiscovered North Pole.

SALVATION ARMY ADVISORY BOARD MET LAST NIGHT

The Advisory Board to the Salvation Army, a committee of local citizens who aid and assist the Salvation in its problems and who represent the public in its dealings with the Army, held a meeting last evening.

The chairman, George I. Thurston, presided and there was a goodly attendance considering the other engagements of the evening. The Board discussed the drive for a Salvation Army home which will be put on in May and some of the preliminary work was outlined.

GLAD HE WAS NOT THERE

Clearfield, Pa., April 10.

Editor Progress:—Anent the correspondence relative to the recent attempt at burglary which was frustrated by our efficient special detective permit me to suggest that Otto was probably about three jumps ahead of his critics at that. As I see it he doubtless figured that instead of making his escape in the obsolescent manner this particular yegg was an up-to-date crook who would probably try to make his getaway via wireless. In anticipation of such an escape Otto was evidently trying to cut off his retreat by puncturing his aerial.

I agree with a former contributor that Detective Eppers should have had the assistance of Colonel Kuhn on this occasion as I believe they would have been able, working together, to bring down the intruder with their Otto-Mac-tics.

Yours truly,
One Who Is Glad He Was Not There.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

30 MILES OF B-P HIGHWAY TO BE BUILT IN 1923

"Dirt will be flying on from 25 to 35 miles of road in Pennsylvania on the Buffalo-Pittsburg Highway in 1923."

This statement was made at the weekly meeting of the DuBois Kiwanis Club at the Commercial Hotel last night by B. E. Taylor, of Brockwayville, president of the Buffalo-Pittsburg Highway Association, who was the principal speaker of the occasion. It was made after Mr. Taylor had explained how it had been made possible by a change in the state constitution to have the new $50,000,000 road bond issue voted on this year instead of having to wait until next year, and that if the bond issue carried the money would be available for the completion of the Buffalo-Pittsburg highway in 1924.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT

of Interest to

MILLIONS of FAMILIES

"I will build a car for the multitude"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car--- to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car owners.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers---more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months ---and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it---father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

PURE BRED BREEDERS OF CLEARFIELD COUNTY SHOULD HAVE AN ORGANIZATION; IT PAYS IN SEVERAL OTHER COUNTIES

Call Is Issued Now For Guernsey Breeders to Meet at Clearfield April 19th; Holstein Men Will Meet Here On May 8th

AN EXPERT ORGANIZER IS TO BE HERE

The time has come when the breeders of pure bred cattle in Clearfield County should have an organization, through which they can advertise and get their surplus stock before the people, as well as to work towards a goal or have a policy which will be of benefit to the entire County.

An organization of this kind is not new for the papers are full of the work that is being done by similar organizations in different Counties of the State. Every Dairyman is familiar with the Grove City Association, and while it may be at the head of the list, yet Columbia County, Bradford County, and a number of other Counties are doing splendid work with their organizations. In every case they have as a standard which the breeders who belong must adhere to and having attained that standard they are able to advertise their surplus stock in an unit way, having sales from time to time, as well as a Secretary, who has on hand, at all times the names of breeders and what they have to sell. In this way they are able to place all of their surplus pure breeds, and usually have a greater demand than they have animals for sale.

Clearfield County has made rapid progress during the past few years in the pure bred business. At the present time, as was shown by the County Fair meetings.

THE HOG SITUATION IN PENNSYLVANIA FROM A REPORT OF SWINE COMMITTEE OF THE AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE

From Report of the Swine Committee, Agricultural Conference, Clearfield, Pa.

Taking the average per capita pork consumption of the United States as a basis, the population of Pennsylvania requires annually 723,771,400 pounds of pork and pork products. Of this amount, only about 160,000,000 pounds of dressed pork are produced within the State. Market hogs shipped into the State each year and killed at packing plants and slaughter houses number slightly over a million head, supplying another additional 160,000,000 pounds of the dressed product. The remainder, or 403,000,000 pounds of pork consumed comes into the State as cured meat, (bacon, ham) and also as sausage. Thus, the danger of overproduction of pork in Pennsylvania is remote.

Compare the average price live weight of hogs of the six principal Pennsylvania markets to the average price of hogs at Chicago. In 1921 the average price of hogs at Chicago was $3.85 per hundred, in Pennsylvania, $3.50. In 1922 the average price in Chicago was $9.20, in Pennsylvania, $10.25.

Another particularly striking fact in connection with the pork produced in the State is that over one-half of the hogs marketed are killed and dressed on the farm and sold as dressed pork. Figures from 476 farms in Pennsylvania selected at random from a survey conducted by the State Department of Agriculture in 1922, shows that sixty-five per cent of the hogs produced on these farms were marketed as dressed pork, thirty-five were sold live weight. Another interesting point was the average of pork consumed per farm which average is 689 pounds per farm. Right here it might be stated that the rural population alone consumes annually 224,000,000 pounds of pork which is approximately 64,000,000 pounds more than is produced in the State. In the rural population included, of course, small towns and villages.

Important also is the number of farms where blood sows are maintained. The 1920 census shows that 73,702 Pennsylvania farms kept one or more sows for breeding purposes. The total number of blood sows at the time the census was taken, was 143,239, an average of two blood sows per farm. This has an economic bearing upon the pork production in Pennsylvania as will be pointed out a little later in the report.

Market. The present day market demands are for a hog of high dressing percentage, weighing from 180 to 225 pounds live weight. Overfat hogs are discriminated against because of the sluggish export trade inlard. Heavyweight killers are always preferred by butchers and packers.

Quality. Pennsylvania pork producers have an unusual opportunity in the development of even a better market for country sausage, cured hams and allied pork products as evidenced by the reputation already attained by several producing sections. The consumer desires certain pork products where quality is maintained and a standard product is produced direct from the farm.

Shipping Associations. There are a limited number of sections in the State where the supply of hogs produced is in excess of the demands of the immediate territory. Such communities will find it advantageous to ship carload lots of a uniform grade and weight of finished hogs to a central live stock market. A Co-Operative Shipping Association will function to the mutual advantage of all farmers who reside in a territory of this description.

Production. Five factors should be mentioned here—blood, feed, forage, proper quarters and swine mentality.

BLOOD. For economy, for rate of gain, for one hundred pounds of pork at the lowest feed requirement, an efficient pork machine is essential. Such an animal machine is possible only through the use of high grade of class sires who have back of them many generations whose worth has been proven in size of litter, in growthiness of offspring, in milk producing qualities, in pounds of pork produced and in rate of gain.

FEED. To attain a satisfactory mark on the measuring stick—cost of production, a common sense method of feeding is imperative. Such a system must include regularity; a cent success.

DRAFT HORSE FACTS

"It takes about 50,000 horses a year to maintain the horse population of the State of Pennsylvania. During the last twenty years a large portion of these horses have been imported from other states and there has been little interest in the breeding of good horses.

"The idea that the tractor will replace the horse on the farm is an illusion. The tractor will never do more than supplement the horse in agriculture. This is especially true in a state where the farms on the average are small.

"Without question many of the farmers of the state could profitably raise their own supply of horses. The idea that a mare, if she raises a colt, should be turned out in the pasture all summer and do no work is all wrong. A pair of mares when properly handled and fed can raise their colts and do almost their full share of work. The average farmer cannot afford to keep a mare just to raise a colt, but many farmers would find it profitable to raise at least their own horses, and where conditions are favorable a few horses to sell. It does not pay to raise a poor horse any more than it does to raise a poor cow. The only kind of a horse it pays the farmer to raise is a good-sized, sound draft horse."

FRED RASMUSSEN, Secretary of Agriculture, of Pennsylvania.

POTATO CLUBS

In last month's Livestock edition, an invitation was extended to boys and girls between the ages of eight and twenty who desired to join the Potato Club contest. Since that time inquiries have come from boys all over the County, asking to be admitted to this Club. We are sorry to state that it will be impossible to take in boys and girls from districts over fifteen or twenty miles from Clearfield or DuBois, as it is the business men in those two towns who are back of the Club Work, and who will donate the potatoes.

There are still some potatoes available for the boys and girls within the vicinity of Clearfield and DuBois. We will be glad to have their names at once.

The grocer can't run his business without a scale and a memorandum book. Grocers have found this out and don't try to get along without them.

Many dairymen are still trying to run their business without a scale or a milk sheet, but they are playing a losing game, when a little effort would put their cows and feeding on a real business basis.

A balanced ration obtained by adding to home grown grains a small amount of a good quality protein supplement, preferably of animal origin. Lastly, the hogs' taste demands palatability and variety, their stomachs a concentrated mixture and their bony framework add vital tissues, ample mineral matter.

GREEN LEGUMES. To insure the best thrift and vigor in swine and as an aid in warding off disease, green feed is paramount. Legumes manufacture food nutrients from the soil and air. By combining the nutritious succulent, leguminous crop with a proper grain mixture, a twenty-five per cent saving in the feed bill is assured. For average farm conditions one hundred pounds of pork can be produced at the lowest unit cost via the forage crop and grain route.

QUARTERS. Admitting the outstanding importance of Blood, Feed and Forage, the pork raiser will still fall short of the most desirable results if dry, sanitary sleeping quarters and well drained, roomy outside lots are not provided for the breeding herd as well as the growing pigs.

MENTALITY. Mentality in swine raising is a factor at the proper time of year, care of the sow at farrowing, successful rearing of pigs to weaning age and the ever alertness of the feeder to do those things which make for one-hundred per cent success.

FACTORS IN THE SUCCESSFUL RAISING OF CHICKS BY ONE WHO KNOWS HOW

P. L. SANFORD, Poultry Extension Department, Pennsylvania State College.

Housing. For the successful rearing of chicks there are certain fundamental practices that must be followed. The detailed method of putting these into practice will vary greatly, but nevertheless for the most economical and profitable results in the long run, the fundamentals must be observed.

We could properly consider housing first. The College has a bulletin on poultry houses in which brooder houses 12x16 feet is portrayed. This is ideal for about 350 chicks are enough to place under any hover in a single group. While there are brooder stoves on the market advertised to take care of more, the above statement holds. Possibly finances will not permit so large a house for 300 to 350 chicks. If such is the case, build one 12x16 feet and place a temporary partition in it until the chicks are weaned from the stoves. Then place a stove in either end with about 300 under each stove. This proves more desirable than building two small houses. Even this however is not as satisfactory as having the larger house for about 300 to 350 chicks.

Brooder Stoves. There are many satisfactory makes of brooders on the market. As a rule the coal oil brooder has not proved as satisfactory early in the season as the hard coal stove. As far as the correct temperature for a stove is concerned, the chick is the best indication of that. In general a temperature of about 100 degrees at the edge of the hover an inch off the floor is satisfactory for the first few days. Be sure your thermometer is accurate.

Feeding Schedule For Chicks.

The first day ration should consist of fine chick feed or rolled oats in which has been mixed a large percentage of fine grit. As soon as the chicks learn to eat the grain, it should be scattered in a litter where they will have to exercise. Feed them sparingly four or five times a day. It is very easy to overfeed young chicks with cracked grains and care should be taken to keep them always hungry for more.

ODOR IN MILK

Milk absorbs odors very quickly. Unclean milking quarters, old bedding, musty silage and hastily cleaned pans and buckets will all affect milk drawn or standing near them.

If cows eat certain weeds, such as wild onions, it will also affect the milk. When pasture has such weeds, it is best to take the cows off pasture at least two hours before milking. This will practically eliminate the odor and taste.

If at all possible, the part of the pasture containing these weeds should be fenced off and the cows can be grazed on it immediately after milking and moved to another pasture later.

KEEPING BREEDING RECORD

Intelligent care of the dry cow cannot be given unless a breeding record is kept, due to the fact that some cows will drop a calf a month or more before an unborn calf.

ate by testing with another in warm water.

Range. To stay in the poultry business, good clean pullets, free from disease and intestinal worms must be produced. The greatest source of contamination is the ground over which the birds must range. The best way to cure gape worms, intestinal worms, coccidiosis, or any other chick disease is to prevent the original infection by providing clean range. By the time the chicks are a week old they should be on the ground, even should it be necessary to shovel away the snow to do it. If we produce clean pullets on clean ground and put them in clean houses that are clean because they have been cleansed, the danger from disease is reduced to a minimum.

Feeding Chicks. More chicks die each year from the result of poor feeding than from any other cause. Most of the bowel trouble in little chicks is caused by over-feeding or feeding too soon after hatching.

Sour milk or buttermilk is the best food for growing chickens. It should be the first food given and should be before them as long as it can possibly be obtained.

The first day ration should consist of fine chick feed or rolled oats in which has been mixed a large percentage of fine grit. As soon as the chicks learn to eat the grain, it should be scattered in a litter where they will have to exercise. Feed them sparingly four or five times a day. DISEASE FREE SEED POTATOES

The Farm Bureau still has two hundred bushels of Disease Free Seed Potatoes that have not been sold. Any farmer in the County desiring to get seed of the Rural Russet variety direct from Michigan, should get in touch with the Farm Bureau at once, if they want any of this seed.

The price is $1.75 per bushel in ten bushel lots or more delivered at Clearfield or DuBois, and $1.80 per bushel or $4.50 per bag in less than ten bushel lots.

pearances indicate. Occurrences of this kind are extremely detrimental to the cow, and very, unprofitable to the owner.

Don't let your cows get too thin before calving. Have them dry at least eight weeks before calving. Feed liberally during the dry period and repay the loans the cows body has been making to the milk pail and the calf a month or more before an unborn calf.

TURKEY RAISING

By MISS SARA REITZ, Broadacres Farm, Burnside, Pennsylvania.

HATCHING TIME

The hatching of a flock of turkey hens is carried on in a little different manner than it is with the ordinary chicken. For the person who is a lover of turkeys, it is an easy matter to keep an eye on them during the beginning of the laying season and note the egg laid in an open nest by each individual hen. We egg band each of our hens and it is an easy matter to know the individual turkey the same as you can know people, and place her name, or leg band number on the egg. Each bird lays an egg quite different from the others and one soon becomes familiar with each hen's egg.

The turkey hen has the instinct of hiding her nest, and one should take care to know where the nests are located and gather eggs frequently during chilly weather as they will soon become unfit for hatching. The arrangement that we use consists of the roosting shed is a wire covered runway, eighteen feet wide and one hundred feet long, where the nests are located in various places with the ground not in direct view. We have had ordinary packing cases for cases with good success. Sometimes brought about by having a bundle of wood cut out for an entrance at the end.

It is the best plan to set the eggs as soon after being laid as can be done conveniently. When holding eggs any length of time, I put them in a box containing bran, placing the small and large and turn each one slightly each day. The temperature of the room for holding hatching eggs should be around fifty-five or sixty degrees.

Sometimes we find it rather a hard job for the little chicks to get out of the shell, and I use warm water the last four days before the hatch comes out. It takes four weeks for turkey eggs to hatch.

I use White Plymouth Rock hens to hatch the eggs. Each hen eight eggs. When the hatch is completed I place the hen in a small compartment with a large brooder house with twenty-five baby turkeys. She is provided with an outdoor runway enclosed with eighteen inch wire. The foster mother will naturally look after the young as long as she is fed properly. We have found the use of the large brooder house well worth while. When spring shows come up quite suddenly the hen will take her brood and seek shelter, thus preventing the milk, so it is up to us to find out how we can help the cow digest her feed, and what kinds of feed provide the materials needed for milk.

We have already seen that the ration must be bulky, so that it is sure to go into the first stomach and be re-chewed as cud. Then a feed must be palatable. You wouldn't like porridge without salt, cream or sugar, because it would be tasteless. The more you like some kind of food, the more you will eat of them. It's just the same with a cow; she digests a palatable feed much better than one she doesn't relish. This is an important point because the milk flow depends largely upon the quantity of feed eaten.

The average cow needs about sixteen pounds of digestible nutrients a day to maintain her body and produce three and one-half gallons of milk. Half of this sixteen pounds goes for body maintenance and half for milk.

If she doesn't like her feed, and consumes only twelve pounds, what happens? The cow needs eight pounds to maintain her body, so her milk-making material is cut down to four pounds.

The cow might draw on her body for a time, but it makes her dry up more quickly, and actually shortens her life. Remember this, that it's the feed over and above what she needs to maintain her body that goes into the making of milk.

When you are buying a feed for your cow, remember how steak you like to sit down to a meal where you have a big, thick, juicy, tender steak. You can't feel your mouth water, can't big aid to digestion.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glen Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to do any work. I was not able to stand on my feet, and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonials about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four. All my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHILL, Glen Falls, N. Y.

SHOE STYLE AND SHOE VALUE THAT REMAIN SUPREME ALWAYS

Seven Points of Supremacy

1. The sole leather used in "FOOT-FITTERS" is of the best quality obtainable. Even the linings are cut from standard sole leather.
2. "FOOT-FITTERS" are the only shoes in the world having full length vamp and sole leather box toes. (This feature prevents slipping at the tip and makes a smooth outer and inner surface.)
3. The insoles are channeled so that they fit tightly against the outside. There is no need of room for a cork filler. A small piece of cork is used to prevent squeaking.
4. The Catkin inside counter pocket is of great value, for it moves the wear on the heels. There is no rough surface to rub against.
5. "FOOT-FITTERS" heels are 1/2 inch longer than generally used. They give additional support to the arch and increase the comfort and wear of the shoe.
6. The vamp is reinforced with 5 oz. duck. This absorbs the moisture from the feet, thus keeping the shoe dry and preventing the shoe from becoming stiff.
7. Edmonds' "FOOT-FITTERS" shoes are on hand in every town. Increase the value of your shoes by buying "FOOT-FITTERS" shoes. They are the best shoes in the world.

YOU NEVER WERE OFFERED A BETTER VALUE IN YOUR LIFE THAN THIS $7.50

A CONGOLEUM RUG FOR EVERY ROOM IN THE HOUSE

Time was when "oilcloth" was thought of as purely a kitchen floor covering. Now, since the designers have wrought so well, there is a CONGOLEUM RUG for every room in your home. And they will stand the wear and tear of heavy shoes for a long time.

Come in and let us show you the Rug for every room.

ROSS AND WOODS GENERAL MERCHANDISE

NOTHING grows into money so fast as chickens. When new hatched, they cost a few cents each but the early pullets when matured and laying are paying handsome dividends on a value of $10.00 each. Now "Don't lose them." Save them all by feeding BABY BUSTER and BONNIE BOOSTER CHICK FEED.

BABY BUSTER is a hard grain chick feed containing dried fish, and BONNIE BOOSTER is a soft grain food containing dried buttermilk. Both fish and buttermilk are high in vitamin content, and essential to the chickens' thrift and growth.

The 1923 SUPERIOR Chevrolet 4 Passenger Sedanette

Here is the first motor car of this character ever offered in the less than $1000 class. It is a social and sport car of refined type at the astonishingly low price of $850. It carries an air of distinction especially appreciated by women. The beautifully designed Fisher Body seats four in comfort. Trunk at rear is regular equipment.

QUALITY has been still further improved by more artistic design and added equipment.

ECONOMY has been still further increased by engineering refinements and greatly increased facilities.

SERVICE is now offered on a flat rate basis by 10,000 dealers and service stations.

PRICES of the new line remain the same in spite of added equipment and more expensive construction, which have greatly increased value.

Some Distinctive Features

Streamline body design with high hood; vacuum feed and rear gasoline tank on all models; drum type head lamps with legal lenses. Curtains open with doors of open models. Closed models have plate glass Tarnstedt regulated windows, straight side cord tires, sun visor, windshield wiper and dash light. The Sedanette is equipped with auto trunk on rear.

Do You Know?

BY UNITED PRESS

By UNITED PRESS.
Do the major league baseball clubs really pay the sums they say they do for minor league ball players such as $100,000 for Willie Kamm, $75,000 for Jimmy O'Connell and $55,000 for Jack Bentley?

BASEBALL BUG

While the major league club owners do not show their books, there is some doubt about the huge prices paid for players. Deals usually called for so much cash and so many players, the value of which players is usually greatly exaggerated. The Giants, under the rule which prohibits them from sending players to non-league leagues, were forced by Commissioner Landis to pay cash for O'Connell. John Farrell, secretary of the minor leagues, claims that the White Sox check for Kamm was $100,000.

"Who is the greatest among the present day top of fight managers?"

R. T. C.

Because it is purely a matter of opinion, that is a hard question to answer, as there are so many angles that must be considered in judging capabilities of a manager. Since the idea of professional boxing seems to be to get big money, perhaps fight managers get for them. On this ground Jack Kearns, the manager of Jack Dempsey, is the greatest of them all. He and Dempsey have made almost a million dollars.

"Why is it that there are no distance runners being developed in the United States?"

J. O. C.

It is not a fact that there are no distance runners being developed in this country. If there are not as many good ones in this country as there are on the other side, it is largely the result of the difference in temperament. The spontaneous dynamic temperament of the average young American finds itself best suited to sprinting and hurdling, while those of the slower, more deliberate, plodding race like the Finns, take naturally to distance running, because they can exist on a fewer number of thrills while they have to come on a minute for the American.

MOST GIRLS SPOON, 1,000 ADMIT IT

New York, April 4.—The prevalence of spooning is shown in replies received by the Bureau of Social Hygiene founded by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to a frank questionnaire.

It was circulated in what is termed the first exhaustive scientific investigation on that has been made of the sex life of the normal, educated woman.

A report prepared by Dr. Katherine Bement Davis, general secretary of the Bureau, on replies received from 1,010 married women in various parts of the country show 375 admitted having spooned prior to marriage with other than fiancés; 285 spooned with fiancés only, and 350 never spooned prior to marriage. The question was left unanswered by 28.

Eleven of the 375 failed to specify the extent of their spooning; 21 wrote "not far"; 50 "kissing only";

THE EFFECT OF FEED ON THE RICHNESS OF MILK

Some feed gives milk a rich, yellow color. This has led to a great deal of confusion about the effect of different feeds on the butter fat test or the quantity of cream in the milk which a cow produces. The fact is that each individual cow makes milk of a certain quality. In general, Jerseys and Guernseys give higher test milk than Holsteins and Ayrshires. There is no possible way of feeding a Holstein cow which naturally gives about four per cent milk so that she will give the five and one-half per cent butter fat milk which many Jerseys give. A sudden change of feed, such as turning on pasture, will temporarily change the butter fat test, but after a very short time it will come right back to the natural average of the particular cow.

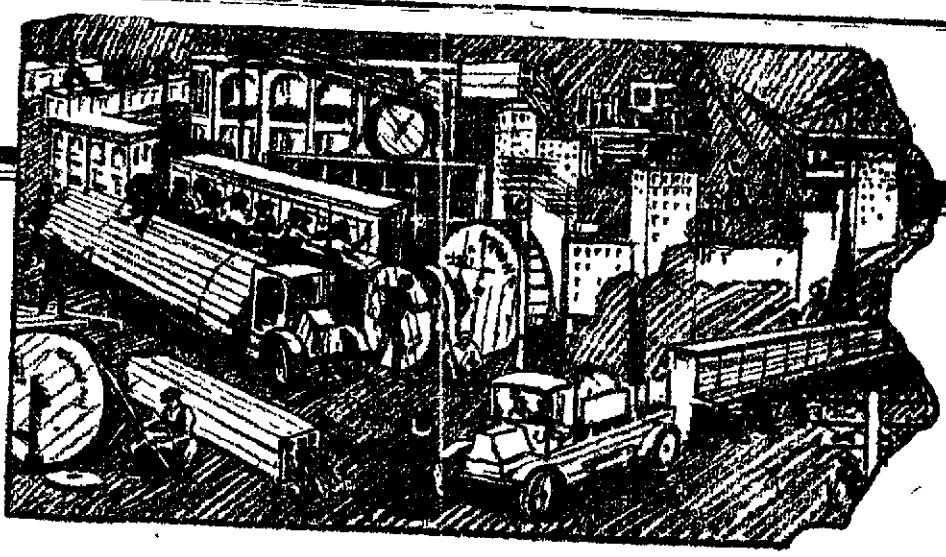

A cow's milk varies from day to day in richness. There is a general average, however, which all cows show, throughout the lactation period. For the first eleven or twelve weeks after freshening the average test falls off slightly, then begins to rise slowly to the eighth month, after which it takes quite a rapid rise until the cow is dry.

HOW TO STOP A SELF-SUCKING COW

One of the simplest and surest methods of breaking a cow of sucking herself is to put an old work bridle on her. The bit of the bridle should be divided in the middle. This will stop the confounded sucker. The bit will bother her for a day or two, but she will soon get used to it. This method does not interfere with the cow moving around as she desires.

Twenty-five Million Dollars' worth of New Equipment will be added to the Bell System in Pennsylvania this year

HALF a million miles of new wire, thirty-five new building operations, seventy thousand new telephones, ten million dollars' worth of central office equipment—such is our program for 1923.

And all this in addition to the tremendous amounts of new plant added in the last three years, which was more than in any six previous years in Pennsylvania's telephone history.

There is an enormous demand for telephone service. Twenty-five million dollars in one year is our effort to meet this demand.

Your system demands ALL BRAN If constipation is to be relieved!

Your system needs the "roughage" that Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, supplies. For, it will not only permanently relieve constipation if it is eaten regularly, but its full content of the vital elements of wheat will build health and strength in a wonderful way.

You need bran in its full and vital strength and that's what you get in Kellogg's Bran—ALL BRAN. It's a spoonful means so much in promoting relief in a way that nature planned. Foods with a bran mixture cannot be digested by the man, woman or child who lives with a chronic constipation. You must have ALL BRAN—roughage that will sweep and clean and purify and bring health back!

Children should be given Kellogg's Bran each day; grown people should

A committee of eleven women well known for their work in the field of psychology co-operated with Dr. Davis. There was taken to prevent the identity of those answering the eight page questionnaire from becoming known.

"In no part of the field of education is there greater difference of opinion than in that which deals with sex," said Dr. Davis. "This is largely because except on the pathological side, sex is scientifically an unexplored country."

It was explained that heretofore such studies have been made only among women prisoners or pathological cases.

The preliminary letter seeking co-operation was sent 5,000 women in various parts of the country.

Questionnaires eventually were received from only 436. The balance of the 1,000 were obtained after letters had been sent 5,000 alumnae of Vassar, Smith, Wellesley and other women's colleges.

does, however, raise important questions and points out the necessity for further study in many directions." Questions put to unmarried women include:

"How old were you when you first began to spoon?"

"What effect, as you estimate it now, did spooning have upon the quality of your character?"

"Will you give the reason why you have not married?"

"What things are most stimulating to you?"

Married women and widows were asked these questions:

"Has your married life been a happy one? If not, why not?"

"Were you strongly attracted toward young men?"

"If so, how would you describe this attraction?"

"Did you indulge, with one or more young men in the intimacies usually embraced in the term spooning?"

"If so, how far did you go in spooning?"

Dr. Davis said that it would take several months to tabulate the answers received to the questionnaire sent to unmarried women.

"We have received more than 1,000 answers, comprising more than 12,000 pages of manuscript to the questionnaire sent to unmarried women," she declared. "I do not believe the tabulation of those answers will be completed before summer."

dressed to unmarried women. These answers gradually are being compiled.

Dr. Davis made a few deductions in her report to married women.

"We emphasize," she says, "the fact that it is not safe to draw general conclusions from this study. The answers considered are too small and group is selective. The study

Conkey's
Buttermilk Starting Feed

ALMOST every poultryman knows Conkey's—first on the market and always first in the market. Feed it to your little chicks for the first 8 weeks.

It is an appetizing combination of pure sweet grain and concentrated, sanitary buttermilk, scientifically proportioned and combined by a special Conkey process—in which Semi-Solid Buttermilk is blended with the grains, and milled and balanced in the Original Conkey Way.

Get the Original

The great success of Conkey's three Buttermilk Feeds—for Starting, Growing and Laying—has resulted in many imitations of the Conkey products. The country is flooded with "buttermilk" feeds. Don't accept just a "buttermilk" feed, insist on Conkey's. Our reputation with the leading poultrymen of the country is your protection.

Conkey's is different—it is so clean, sweet and genuine. No mill ends, shroveled or "unsound" grain, weed seed or mill sweepings used—only the best and purest grain. Yet it costs so little for those first eight weeks no poultryman can afford to be without it. Big Poultry Book free.

PINCHOT DECLINES
TO RECOMMEND HOW
TO LAY NEW TAXESAgain Declares Larger
Sum Needed to Defray
Deficiencies of All Former Administrations.

MAKES PROMISES

Harrisburg, April 10.—Representative Howard Smith, chairman of the sub-committee of the House ways and means committee which has been instructed to investigate the state's need, if any, of new taxation, stated today that his committee's delay in reporting a decision on the question was not due to any wish to "pass the buck" to the Governor.

"We are willing to recommend taxation when it is clearly demonstrated that it is necessary," said Smith. "We will not blindly report out any bill on taxation until we understand them," he said. "What we want from the Governor is not his advice on taxation but a clear estimate on what the expense of the state will amount to. At present there is a discrepancy of ten million dollars in the amount needed as presented in the budget and the estimate by the appropriation committee. We can't talk until this question is cleared up."

Smith, with others, will confer with Governor Pinchot in an attempt to discover why there was this discrepancy between the budget and the figures of the appropriations committee.

Tom Sims says and means committee, meeting before the session of the House today again declined to take any position on the question of additional taxation.

The committee did report one bill, imposing a state tax of one dollar on all slot machines in which is inserted a nickel or less, and two dollars on all other slot machines. It was estimated this tax would bring in $250,000 annually.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 10.—Efforts were under way in the Legislature today to attempt to pass the responsibility for new taxation back again to Governor Pinchot.

In his statement last night, refusing to advise the General Assembly on the subject of revenue raising, the Governor declared sharply: "Once more and finally I will not." In spite of this it was indicated today that a new attempt will be made.

Harrisburg, April 9.—Governor Pinchot in a statement tonight, declined to "dictate" to the legislature that it should do in the matter of taxation and declared "it is the business of the General Assembly and not of the executive to lay new taxes."

The governor declared additional taxation is necessary "only because of deficiencies handed down from previous administrations" and that any new taxes levied should be applied only for schools. Any new taxes levied, he said, should be by an emergency measure, repayable at the end of two years.

Within the last week the Governor said he had been urged by legislators to break away from his position not to dictate to the General Assembly exactly what it should do in the matter of taxation.

"I decline to do so," he said. Quoting from his recent budget speech in which he expressed himself as willing to carry on the executive work of the state for the sum named.

ESTIMATE OF '23
MOTOR LICENSES

Harrisburg, April 10. (United Press)—The total income to the State for 1923 automobile licenses will reach $15,000,000 it was indicated by a final summary of automobile registrations during 1922 made public today by the State Highway Department. The receipts in 1922 were 712,675,390.56 or three million dollars greater than 1921. With the same rate of increase this year's license sales will run over $15,000,000. Total 1922 registration given were: 629,737 automobiles, 19316 motorcycles, 5,475 tractors and trailers, 14,964 motor vehicle dealers and 153,187 paid drivers.

COMMANDER HEALEY

BALDRIDGE DECLARES HIP POCKET NOT
SUBJECT TO SEARCH; DISCHARGES THE
FOUR MEN SEARCHED ON ALTOONA TRAIN

Altoona, April 9th.—Police officers have no right to molest a citizen and make a search for liquors he might be suspected of carrying when traveling. That is in substance the ruling of Judge Thomas J. Baldrige made at Hollidaysburg this morning when four men, three of them negroes, were arraigned on charges of transporting whiskey.

All the men were discharged, the court remarking in doing so that he could find nothing in the new state enforcement act that gave any police officer any authority to search the person of a traveler.

Horace Frisby, Allie Parks and William Coxam, all colored and John Bogg, the latter a Scotchman, were taken into custody at the Altoona passenger station on the evening of March 31, when they alighted from a train by the state police. Frisby had nearly four quarts of whiskey, Parks three quarts, Coxam a half pint and Bogg something over a quart.

All the men were taken to the Hollidaysburg jail and information made against them, charging them with transporting liquor. They were subsequently held for court by the magistrate before whom the complaint over was lodged. This morning they ap-

POTATO CLUB FOR Disease Free Seed.

A LIVELY MEETING

The Commercial Club of Clearfield threw down a challenge to the boys on the farms of Clearfield county at its meeting last evening when, to a man, they signed up as sponsors. The Potato Club plan had been explained to the Commercialites at a prior meeting and last night they just gobbled up every printed contract in sight. The speaker in behalf of the potato club came with only forty-three of the printed forms which were passed about the tables as far as they would go. In less than five minutes all of the forty-three contracts were filled out and at least forty more who were present will sign when the contracts are presented to them.

Boys of the farms of Clearfield county, this means that forty-three business men of Clearfield have already signed up to furnish you with two and a half bushels of disease free seed potatoes in accordance with the plan outlined. If you do not know what this plan is, get in touch with the County Agent at once or write direct to The Progress for information. According to our information more than a half hundred boys have already applied for membership, but come ahead, we believe the Commercial Club is ready to furnish the spuds for a half hundred more. In fact we know it for that Commercial Club will go the limit.

And so they will, on any good proposition, as was evidenced at last night's meeting. Every committee reported action and accomplishment. Especially pleasing was the report of Committeeman Bill Sheeder that the Home Builders Corporation stock was handsomely oversubscribed.

New members taken in last evening were R. Blair Wilson of the Dodge agency; O. W. Bennett of the Gearhart Knitting Machine Company; M. O. A. Sahm of the N. Y.

Where Do We Go From Here

A Resume of the Political Situation In
Clearfield County

The important political campaign in Clearfield county in the year of our Lord 1923 appears to be about as backward or diffident as the spring and regardless of the fact that the Judgeship and the important offices of County Commissioner, County Controller, Prothonotary and Register and Recorder are to be filled, there are yet existent and rampant on the highways and byways of the county less than a baker's dozen of candidates for any and all the offices to be filled at the November election this year.

The only avowed candidate for the President Judgeship, that is the only patriot thus far to express his willingness to be impressed into the people's service, is Hazard A. Murray, Esq., who studied law under the tutelage of his distinguished father, the late Hon. Thomas H. Murray, who during his lifetime assisted in elevating two of his law partners to the bench in Clearfield county. The younger Murray is willing to make it three judges out of Thomas H. Murray's office and following the first announcement of his candidacy to his personal friends ten days ago, has proceeded to really pursue the voters and is now actively advancing his candidacy throughout the county.

So far Murray's is the only hat in the ring, but it is not expected to long remain so, as there are no less than ten or a dozen other Republicans and Democrats, too, pussyfooting about, attempting to muster up courage sufficient to cross lances, not only with Murray, but every and sundry other disciple of Blackstone with nerve enough to publicly announce he considers himself judicial timber.

What Will Bell Do?

Among these, and the one man upon whose decision to be or not to be a candidate this time, hinges many things and several candidacies, is the present Judge, the Hon. Singleton Bell, recognized as one of the very able lower court Judges of Pennsylvania. While no man is able to say just what Judge Bell will do, his close friends say he could and may be induced to tempt the Fates, which have thus far decreed that no Clearfield county Judge should succeed himself, and announce his candidacy. In this connection also, it might not be out of place to say that quite a number of the legal profession would look with more or less satisfaction on the Bell's candidacy, one fellow going so far as to quote the following, attributed to no less a personage than the canny old Benjamin Franklin. When asked if he was a candidate for the Judgeship this lawyer said "Nope, my practice won't allow me to make the sacrifice. Besides I am somewhat like Ben Franklin, who strongly advocated the appointment of Judges by the lawyers of the community or county. Where this practice prevailed, the lawyers always selected the ablest member of their profession, so that they might get rid of him, and thus share his practice among themselves." Just as soon—and maybe sooner—as Judge Bell decides what he proposes to do, a whole shower of cha-peux are liable to be shed ringward.

BLACKHAND REIGN
OF TERROR GRIPS
CHICAGO; TWO DIE

Chicago, April 10.—Two men were killed and three buildings bombed in blackhand reign of terror here today.

Stanley King, a pianist, believed to have been an innocent victim was killed when a bomb was hurled from an automobile at the apartment where he lived as he was about to enter.

King's bride, who was waiting for her husband to return from work ran into the street crying: "I knew it" and collapsed.

Joseph Polumba, aged forty-five, an Italian, was shot to death on the street of "Little Italy." Two men walked up to him, fired three shots each into his body and fled. Police blame "blackhanders" for the shooting as well as for the bombing.

Soviet Postpones Trial
of Prominent Churchman
Until Tuesday, April 17

Moscow, April 10.—The Russian Government today postponed until April 17th the trial of the Metropolitan, Tikhon, Patriarch of all Russia. Dr. Tikhon was to have been tried tomorrow for resistance to the Soviet ruling, providing for sequestration of church property.

Protests against this trial have been received from many parts of the world following the execution of Mgt. Budkevich and the sentencing to ten years imprisonment of Arch Bishop Zepiak.

Second Performance Of Firemen's Minstrels
At Driggs This Eve.

The firemen's minstrel and musical comedy given under the direction of the Turner Minstrel Company at the Driggs theatre last evening gave pretty general satisfaction, although the audience could have been larger than it was.

The firemen will repeat the show tonight and those who failed to see last night's performance should be on hand tonight. The entire cast is made up of local talent and while that may not appeal to some of our theatre goers and be accountable for their absence from the show, the firemen ask us to add that the fire department is also made up of local talent and could be counted on to make a hit any time they arrived at your home ready to bend every energy to save your life or property when the fire demon threatens.

See the show tonight if you missed last night's performance.

SUPREME COURT IS AGAINST FIXING OF
WAGES BY STATUTE

Washington, April 9.—Wages are not to be fixed by law, the Supreme Court, dividing by 5 to 3, decided today in a case brought to test the constitutionality of an act of Congress fixing minimum wages for women and minor girls in the district of Columbia. The majority of the court reached this decision broadly upon the right of contract, insisting that while law could be enforced to regulate working conditions, the employer and the employee must be free of restraint in determining the wages themselves and what wages are acceptable.

FOUR CHILDREN BURN
TO DEATH

Sioux City, Ia., April 10.—Five persons, including four children, were burned to death last night when fire destroyed the George Baab farm house near Whiting, Iowa, according to word here today.

The dead: John Baab, aged 41, brother of the owner, and four children of George. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baab and two children narrowly escaped in their night clothes. The origin of the fire is unknown.

NEW FAIR MANAGER PLUNGES INTO THE
TASK WITH DETERMINATION TO ECLIPSE
ALL FORMER EFFORTS; OFFICE IS OPENPolicy of Liberal Premiums to Be Continued; the Eighth Annual Fair to Be the Result of Seven
Successful Fairs and Not An Experiment

CHARLEY CALLAHAN IS NEW MANAGER

Clearfield County's Big Fair which will be held here on September 25, 26, 27 and 28 is already under way. The Fair Association at a recent meeting elected Charles Callahan the Fair Manager and judging from the way that he is pitching into the work he is going to be more than a fair manager. The new manager and the Fair Committee have already outlined a program that embodies about every up to date idea in agricultural activities and will eclipse all former efforts.

The Clearfield County Fair has passed the experimental "feeling of the way" stage and every action taken now is the result of a ripened experience. It is working on a sound foundation based upon seven successful fairs, each of which has eclipsed the former one in attendance, penmanship, exhibits and attractions. To further this success and carry it forward with each year, to the greater benefit of the industry of agriculture and the exercising of economy and good judgment which the committee feels will be the result under Mr. Callahan's management. The fundamental idea of the Committee is a continued liberal policy in the matter of premiums.

This should encourage the farmers to begin right now to lay their plans for raising special exhibits for the fair. Most assuredly one cannot expect to delay deciding to take their product to the fair until the fall of the year. The fellows who carry off the premiums lay their plans early in the Spring and work for perfection. Let the boys potato club work so the fair that will be the talk of the State.

Special Attention.
To Farm Needs By
Employment Bureau Shot Down By French

Harrisburg, April 10.—(United Press)—The State Employment Bureau has been directed to give special attention to the farmers who are making requisitions for farm hands daily in all parts of the State, according to the regular employment report announced here today.

In the northwest corner of the State it was reported that farmers here are suffering from the lack of help and the fact that wages are considerably higher are planning to plant less acreage this year than in 1922. In the eastern part of the State the Philadelphia employment office reported that the demand for farm labor greatly exceeded the supply. Requests for farm labor are numerous and urgent the Harrisburg office reported for the central part of the State.

The Pittsburgh report for the western part of the State said "This is too early in the season to come to a conclusion on the supply and demand for this class of work but it is our opinion that there will be an acute shortage of farm help within the coming month."

In the summary of the employment report it was stated that shortages of unskilled and skilled workers exist throughout the State in agriculture common labor, domestic help, metals and printing.

SON OF JUDGE
HOCKENBERRY DIES

George Hockenberry, aged about 35, and son of the late Associate Judge John Hockenberry, dropped over dead at his home in Chest township Monday evening last. The deceased was making ready to retire for the night and stooped over to untie his shoe, when the final summons came and he fell over on the floor dead. He leaves a widow and several children.

Germany Accords Full
Military Honors To Men
Shot Down By French

Berlin, April 10.—Germany today accorded full military honors to the thirteen workers shot down by French troops at the Krupp works at Essen, according to the official German press.

Bells tolled throughout the Republic, at the moment when the quiet procession, with thirteen odd open-faced coffins containing the bodies of the men, wended through the streets of Essen. The mourners in frock coats and top hats followed the caissons through the hushed streets of the Ruhr city, while thousands of workers halted their work for hours. In Berlin the Reichstag Chamber was draped with crepe and decorated with laurel.

STUYVENANT FISH DIES

New York, April 10.—Stuyvenant Fish, director of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad and of the National Park bank, died suddenly here today. Fish died in his offices in the bank. Fish was 72 and was born in New York. He acted as Secretary of State in the cabinet of President Grant.

YOUNG MAN, HOW ABOUT THIS FOR AN OUTING?

If you are interested in the C. L. Evans Military Training Camp at Camp Meade, Md., get in touch with Col. Fred B. Kerr at once. Clearfield County is entitled to forty young men getting this free training. Only nine have yet signed up. Get busy at once. The camp begins June 28 and continues until July 25. Take this course and enjoy a real Fourth of July in the uniform of your Uncle Sam.

Curwensville's Own Column

Last night District Deputy Grand Master Clair Davis, came up from Clearfield and installed the following officers of Bethesda Lodge No. 821: Noble Grand, Harry Addleman; vice grand, N. D. Shirey; trustee, A. G. Woodward. Ernest Aughenbaugh was selected to represent this lodge at the coming session of the Grand Lodge to convene at Allentown.

Several signs have been nailed to poles at each square, between Locust and Pine streets. The signs are painted red, the letter being white, and reading "NO TURNING HERE." Now we will see what we see.

We have been requested to announce officially the marriage of Mr. Fred S. Lowther, of Altoona, and Miss Lora Newcomer, of Curwensville, which event took place in Brookville on Friday, March 9th, 1923. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Van Zort, pastor of the First Baptist church of Brookville. Both bride and groom have many friends in Curwensville and vicinity who will wish them bon voyage in their new relation. They expect to make their home in Altoona where Mr. Lowther will engage in the drug business.

Harry Gates who was so seriously ill for three weeks past, has passed over the danger line and is getting along nicely, and if no relapse or unforeseen complications arise, will soon be about and on his feet once more and assume personal supervision over his hardware store.

The following Curwensville folks attended the funeral of Mrs. Ross at Grapian yesterday: Mrs. Emerson Weber, Mrs. Roy Barger, Mrs. John Haley, Mrs. Ralph Norris and Miss Hall Cleaver.

Harold Bottorf, of State College, was a town visitor a few days this week. He is a member of the Graff orchestra. His father, Linn Bottorf was at one time Pennsylvania station agent in Curwensville, several years prior to his death.

Miss Corrine Roth is ill at her home on Bloomington avenue. Mrs. Roth who passed through a sick spell is now able to be up and about again.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith, of New York, arrived in Curwensville on Saturday for a visit with relatives. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Helen Thompson.

Berrett Caldwell, who was seriously ill in a Williamsport hospital last week, was brought to his home in this place on Sunday and is considerably improved in health.

Ashley McDowell, who operates a photo studio in Tyrone, came home last week and spent Sunday and several days this week. He had not been feeling very chipper for some time and decided a few days away from business would not come amiss.

The Penn Public Electric Company is extending its line for a considerable distance along the Bailey road, from the Leathers home to Lieb's chicken farm. This extension for light will certainly prove a boon to the folks who live out in that vicinity.

A private telephone line is being installed between Lumber City and Heburnia. The wires are being attached to the electric light poles. The promoters are having some little trouble with persons who own lands, but no doubt this will be settled amicably in a short time and the new line put into service.

Samuel Williams, South Side, announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Erie Williams, to James C. Booth, the ceremony having been performed at Clearfield on Wednesday, March 28th, 1923. Comrade Booth certainly pulled one over on his Legion friends, who never anticipated that he was seriously thinking of entering into the state of matrimony.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leshner motored over from Philipsburg Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Leshner's mother, Mrs. Maggie Whittaker, on Susquehanna avenue.

Alex Kantar left for Pittsburgh on Sunday having spent the Easter season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kantar, on North Thompson street.

PINCHOT DECLINES

"It is the business of the General Assembly and not of the executive to lay new taxes," he said. "It is the very essence of democracy, such democracy as the American people have set up and take just pride in. Therefore, it is the business of the General Assembly and not the executive to decide what new taxes shall be laid."

"If the General Assembly will, in the appropriation bill, provide the power of adjustment which lump sums give, and will make certain relatively unimportant revisions of law to permit a few other adjustments, this administration will be responsible for carrying on the executive work of the Commonwealth, excluding education, without additional taxes and at an average reduction of more than one-quarter lower than the appropriation of the present two years."

Turn to Good Luck for relief from high prices

One advantage of Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine is that the price is so reasonable that you can use plenty of it. When the children ask for a lunch you can spread GOOD LUCK on the bread thick; or if you are baking a cake you can put in enough GOOD LUCK to make it extra good. And all the time you're saving money. This is a real advantage that the housewife appreciates. It accounts for the very large sale of GOOD LUCK. Three times a day, the housewife has to furnish good, nourishing meals within a reasonable cost. GOOD LUCK is an invaluable help in doing it. A trial will make you a permanent user.

This modern, high-quality food is for sale at your dealers—Fresh, in its convenient carton.

VIRGINIA CHOCOLATE SHOP

Potato Club For Boys

C. Edgar M. Westcott, of the State Highway Department; W. Paterson Alderdice of the Pig & Whistle Shop, and G. Webb Shillingford of the Empire Coal Company.

The speaker of the evening was Charles A. Conklin of the Western Electric Lamp Company who gave the club some inspiration along the lines of city lighting. As the president in a witty flight said, his talk was illuminating.

A feature of the evening was the trio by the big three. Pitcher of the Pennsylvanians, Holden of the B. R. & P., and Sahn of the N. Y. C. Referring to them as the "Big Three" President Frantz compelled them to sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee. Pitcher sang high, Sahn low and Holden carried the air.

An important letter to shippers relating to transportation difficulties was read as follows: Mr. Randall B. Brubaker, Secy. Commercial Club Clearfield, Pa.

Dear Sir: At the present time there is a considerable shortage of freight cars throughout the country due to the fact that a great many cars are held under load and not being promptly released or unloaded and loaded by shippers and receivers of freight.

I would greatly appreciate it if you would bring this situation before the members of the Commercial Club especially those who are shippers and receivers of carload freight, requesting them to load and unload cars as promptly as possible regardless of whatever privileges they may have under the Free Time Clause. Every day saved in the release of a car means just that many more cars made available or the number of cars used for more trips and by so operating they are not only helping themselves but the community at large.

One example in this connection is that on a certain railroad in New England there were 62,393 cars on March 8th which is more than 20,000 cars in excess of the minimum number required for normal business on that line. This is approximately 7,000 cars more than was on that line rails at any period during the war.

Therefore, we earnestly request your co-operation in bringing this situation before those concerned with a view of assisting in overcoming the present car shortage.

Very truly yours, (Signed) G. E. Taylor, Div. Freight and Passenger Agt. New York Central Lines

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Coming events are said to cast their shadows before them. We see by the papers that President Harding has purchased the Ohio farm on which he was born. He may be preparing to start an individual "back to the farm" movement after the 1924 election.

At the last gubernatorial election the Democratic candidate, with true Democratic thick-headedness, picked upon "Finegan and Fineganism" as the rack upon which to build the foundation of his campaign. Gifford Pinchot is the result. But notwithstanding the boomerang effect of the attack upon the head of the State Educational Department several Democratic editors have not yet forgotten their partisan bias and regardless of the facts which make adverse criticism of Finegan's administration of our school affairs a real joke and acknowledgement of absolute ignorance of state educational affairs, and continue to slam away regard-

That being so the following extract from an editorial in last Wednesday's Democratic Pittsburgh Post ought to serve to at least keep these knockers quiet, if it doesn't cause them to see the error of their ways. In discussing Governor Pinchot and his announced intention of "cleaning up the mess" at Harrisburg, the Post editor says:—

"The public, of course, looks to the Legislature to do its full part toward the cleaning up of the 'mess.' One of the features discussed with positiveness by the Governor is that of education. He declared himself unwaveringly for progress for higher education as well as for the common schools.

In this connection it cannot be impressed too much upon the Governor that progress for public education in Pennsylvania demands the reappointment of the man under whose leadership such great strides have been taken—Dr. Thomas E. Finegan, state superintendent of public instruction. All the able committees that have investigated the operation of the new system of the public schools in this state have paid tribute to it. As Dr. Finegan is largely the designer of that system, and has furnished admittedly capable leadership for its operation, the best interests of the cause of public education in the state demand his reappointment. Such action should be taken now, while the Legislature is in session and confirmation by the Senate can be obtained.

While cleaning up the 'mess' in other activities, the Governor should guard against the creation of another, which would result if a suspension is permitted to hang over the schools or the blunder be made of not reappointing an educational leader of proved ability and integrity."

A lot of bootleggers and moonshiners who have thus far escaped the dragnet of the law, are very much incensed over the new Pinchot real dry law, but not so the twenty-five or thirty liquor law violators who were arrested in Clearfield county prior to the inauguration of the present drastic statute. These violators are all indicted under the Woner Act and as the Woner Act has been repealed by the Pinchot act the lawyers say it will be impossible to try, convict or punish a man or woman under the terms of a law which no longer exists. Funny how the devil takes care of his own—sometimes.

How there came to be a Prince of Wales is explained by the following tradition: The Welsh were chafing under English rule, and wanted a prince of their own, "born in Wales, and who could speak no other language." The then King of England had gone to his castle in Wales to study the conditions and hear complaints of the Welsh people. While there his queen gave birth to a son. Soon afterwards a large throng of Welsh people gathered before the door of the castle to demand a prince of their own. The king, brought out the new baby and addressing the multitude said: "Here is your prince. He was born on your own soil, and speaks no other language." And so ever after the eldest son of the king was called the Prince of Wales.

testimony in the above entitled case and to report the same with form of Decree hereby gives notice that he will sit for the purpose of his appointment at the office of Miller & Hartwick, County National Bank Bldg., Clearfield, Pa., on Friday the 4th day of May, 1923, at 10 o'clock a. m., when and where all parties interested may attend if they so desire. Where Do We Go From Here

Final candidate following each among the most likely of these. Chase, Esq., of the firm of Chase, Esq., one of our most successful young school lawyers. With the backing of the strong Chase faction and a large personal acquaintance should prove to be a formidable candidate.

It is also possible that the District Attorney John C. Arden, while W. C. Miller and A. Woodward, among the leaders of the "have hopes" that may bloom before September rolls around.

On the Democratic side in addition to J. Bell, the most likely judicial candidate is W. C. Penta, Esq., of DuBois. He comes of old time-honored Democratic Brady township stock, is a DuBois citizen, with Grange and other affiliations that will require any and every other candidate to get in with Penta if he finally decides to get in, which it is said he may do in a very short time.

While, as we have already stated, this one announcement has been actually made the bee is buzzing in 70 less than a dozen legal bonnets.

Political Situation Up in the Air.
There is thus far a dearth of announced candidates for the other offices, although the woods are full of potential or problematical candidates, who are hanging back at present to read the signs of the political.

A patent to all, the erstwhile Republican organization in the county is today in a state of utter confusion with the rank and file ready and anxious to be led, but no leader of the near leadership calibre rises above the political horizon except Pinchot. His name is, undoubtedly, to the old organization crowd and waiting and hoping against hope for an Old Guard Moses. The situation in the state has its reflection in this county and until the re-organization of the old organization gets its legs under it and leaders and policy makers upon there will be little or no showing of candidacies.

The independent or always anti-Republican crowd in the county, which has been able to "put the cleaver" on the organization slate with painful regularity the past couple of years, is today Pinchot almost to a man, and primary this year is destined to be a county leadership in Clearfield county for several years to come. The measure declares there will be a real battle for supremacy between the two camps of political thought in the county and to that end prophesy that the Republican candidate will go in to a very tight fight unopposed and the "organization crowd" and the new independent will each have a full hand in the field for all the offices. The line of cleavage will be drawn clearly in the County Controller's race. The present Controller,

Grant H. Thompson, was "put across" by the "organization," and hopes to succeed himself, while his chief competitor for the appointment, Milford Bratton, also of Clearfield, is being groomed for the nomination by the other side and is expected to announce in due time. This division will follow all down the line and the fight will be to the finish, 'tis said.

No Treasurer To Elect.
On account of the fact that the late Amos Rumberger died during the second year of his term and his daughter Miss Gertrude was elected at the November election following to succeed him, something was said at the time by the "captains of politics" interested that Miss Rumberger would resign in the middle of her term or at the end of this year and thus allow a successor to take her place at the expiration of the four years her father was chosen for. No one ever heard Miss Rumberger make such a statement, which would have been illegal in itself, and as she was elected and commissioned for four years has no intention of resigning and there will be no County Treasurer to elect before the fall election of 1925.

Lots of County Commissioners.
The substantial increase in the salary of the County Commissioners office will bring a lot of substantial candidates for that office into the field, just as soon as the present legislature adjourns and the political skies clear long enough for the factional lines to form. Up to date the following have been mentioned by their friends for the position:

Republicans.—Jesse E. Dale and T. E. Wemer, of DuBois, present incumbents; Charles S. Strong of Ansonville; Ira Matthews, of Irona; John G. Maines, of Bradford township; Joseph E. Phillips, of Clearfield; Fred J. Dyer, of Curwensville.

Democrats.—M. L. Farrell, of Clearfield, present incumbent; W. D. Little, of West Decatur; J. K. Wrigley, of Curwensville; Harrison Strawn, of Goshen township; Bernard Rice, of DuBois; T. A. Bauman, of Woodward township; George J. Weber, of Troutville borough.

For County Controller on the Democratic ticket James A. McPherson, the Lawrence township farmer, is the only name mentioned.

Two Prothonotary Candidates.
Thus far the Prothonotary fight looks like a repetition of that of four years ago with Geo. W. Ralston, who wants to be re-elected, carrying the Republican banner, and Squire John Scollins opposing him on the Democratic ticket.

For Register and Recorder.
Some of his friends are urging Ed B. Chase to be a candidate for re-election, while Art Weber, of DuBois, and W. H. Nupp, of Sandy township will also contest for the Republican nomination.

On the Democratic side Chester Brown, of O'Shanter, and E. V. Milberg, of Clearfield, are said to be arranging to enter the race.

This will be a highly important year in Clearfield county politics and while the campaign is slow in getting started it is going to be a hummer long before the idea of next November.

Superintendent and Mine Foreman To Answer For Death Of 77 At Spangler

Elensburg, Pa., April 7.—County Detective G. E. Whited, acting under instructions from District Attorney D. P. Weimer, lodged a charge of involuntary manslaughter against the superintendent and mine foreman of Reilly mine No. 2, at Spangler, where an explosion on November 6 caused the death of seventy-seven men. William Young is superintendent and Owen J. Flanagan is mine foreman. It was charged that these men, as executives, were permitting practices contrary to the demands of safety and thus were responsible for the disaster.

Honk, Honk Of The Wild Geese Heard Several Times Last Night

Thousands of wild geese have been flying north over Clearfield in an almost endless string the past couple of days and nights, and we guess it might not be out of place at this time to assert that at last "spring has come."

The continued honk, honk, honk of the aerial visitors was heard at various times during last night while this morning about 9 o'clock an immense flock of geese flew over the town in the direction of old Doc Cook's undiscovered North Pole.

SALVATION ARMY ADVISORY BOARD MET LAST NIGHT

The Advisory Board to the Salvation Army, a committee of local citizens who aid and assist the Salvation in its problems and who represent the public in its dealings with the Army, held a meeting last evening. The chairman, George I. Thurston, presided and there was a goodly attendance considering the other engagements of the evening. The Board discussed the drive for a Salvation Army home which will be put on in May and some of the preliminary work was outlined.

GLAD HE WAS NOT THERE

Clearfield, Pa., April 10.

Editor Progress:—Anent the correspondence relative to the recent attempt at burglary which was frustrated by our efficient special detective permit me to suggest that Otto was probably about three jumps ahead of his critics at that. As I see it he doubtless figured that instead of making his escape in the obsolete manner this particular yegg was an up-to-date crook who would probably try to make his getaway via wireless. In anticipation of such an escape Otto was evidently trying to cut off his retreat by puncturing his aerial.

I agree with a former contributor that Detective Eppers should have had the assistance of Colonel Kuhn on this occasion as I believe they would have been able, working together, to bring down the intruder with their Otto-Mac-tics.

Yours truly,

One Who Is Glad He Was Not There.

30 MILES OF B-P HIGHWAY TO BE BUILT IN 1923

"Dirt will be flying on from 25 to 35 miles of road in Pennsylvania on the Buffalo-Pittsburg Highway in 1923."

This statement was made at the weekly meeting of the DuBois Kiwanis Club at the Commercial Hotel last night by B. E. Taylor, of Brockwayville, president of the Buffalo-Pittsburg Highway Association, who was the principal speaker of the occasion. It was made after Mr. Taylor had explained how it had been made possible by a change in the state constitution to have the new $50,000,000 road bond issue voted on this year instead of having to wait until next year, and that if the bond issue carried the money would be available for the completion of the Buffalo-Pittsburg highway in 1924.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT

of Interest to

MILLIONS of FAMILIES

"I will build a car for the multitude"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car--- to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car owners.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers---more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months ---and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it---father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

PURE BRED BREEDERS OF CLEARFIELD COUNTY SHOULD HAVE AN ORGANIZATION; IT PAYS IN SEVERAL OTHER COUNTIES

Call Is Issued Now For Guernsey Breeders to Meet at Clearfield April 19th; Holstein Men Will Meet Here On May 8th

AN EXPERT ORGANIZER IS TO BE HERE

The time has come when the breeders of pure bred cattle in Clearfield County should have an organization, through which they can advertise and get their surplus stock before the people, as well as to work towards a goal or have a policy which will be of benefit to the entire County.

An organization of this kind is not new for the papers are full of the work that is being done by similar organizations in different Counties of the State. Every Dairyman is familiar with the Grove City Association, and while it may be at the head of the list, yet Columbia County, Bradford County, and a number of other Counties are doing splendid work with their organizations. In every case they have as a standard which the breeders who belong must adhere to and having attained that standard they are able to advertise their surplus stock in an unit way, having sales from time to time, as well as a Secretary, who has on hand, at all times the names of breeders and what they have to sell. In this way they are able to place all of their surplus pure breeds, and usually have a greater demand than they have animals for sale.

Clearfield County has made rapid progress during the past few years in the pure bred business. At the present time, as was shown by the County Fair meetings.

THE HOG SITUATION IN PENNSYLVANIA FROM A REPORT OF SWINE COMMITTEE OF THE AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE

From Report of the Swine Committee, Agricultural Conference, Clearfield, Pa.

Taking the average per capita pork consumption of the United States as a basis, the population of Pennsylvania requires annually 723,771,400 pounds of pork and pork products. Of this amount, only about 160,000,000 pounds of dressed pork are produced within the State. Market hogs shipped into the State each year and killed at packing plants and slaughter houses number slightly over a million head, supplying another additional 160,000,000 pounds of the dressed product. The remainder, or 403,000,000 pounds of pork consumed comes into the State as cured meat, (ham, bacon) and also as wholesale fresh pork cuts and as lard. Thus, the danger of overproduction of pork in Pennsylvania is remote.

Compare the average price live weight of hogs of the six principal Pennsylvania markets to the average price of hogs at Chicago. In 1921 the average price of hogs at Chicago was $2.85 per hundred, in Pennsylvania, $2.50. In 1922 the average price in Chicago was $2.90, in Pennsylvania, $2.25.

Another particularly striking fact in connection with the pork produced in the State is that over one-half of the hogs marketed are killed and dressed on the farm and sold as dressed pork. Figures from 476 farms in Pennsylvania selected at random from a survey conducted by the State Department of Agriculture in 1922, shows that sixty-five per cent of the hogs produced on these farms were marketed as dressed pork, thirty-five were sold live weight. Another interesting point was the average of pork consumed per farm which average is 689 pounds per farm. Right here it might be stated that the rural population alone consumes annually 224,000,000 pounds of pork which is approximately the amount produced in the State. In the rural population included, of course, small towns and villages.

Important also is the number of farms where blood sows are maintained. The 1920 census shows that 73,702 Pennsylvania farms kept one or more sows for breeding purposes. The total number of blood sows at the time the census was taken, was 143,239, an average of two blood sows per farm. This has an economic bearing upon the pork production in Pennsylvania as will be pointed out a little later in the report.

Market. The present day market demands are for a hog of high dressing percentage, weighing from 180 to 225 pounds live weight. Overfat hogs are discriminated against because of the sluggish export trade in lard. Heavyweight killers are always preferred by butchers and packers.

Quality. Pennsylvania pork producers have an unusual opportunity in the development of even a better market for country sausage, cured hams and allied pork products as evidenced by the reputation already attained by several producing sections. The consumer desires certain pork products where quality is maintained and a standard product is produced direct from the farm.

Shipping Associations. There are a limited number of sections in the State where the supply of hogs produced is in excess of the demands of the immediate territory. Such communities will find it advantageous to ship carload lots of a uniform grade and weight of finished hogs to a central live stock market. A Co-Operative Shipping Association will function to the mutual advantage of all farmers who reside in a territory of this description.

Production. Five factors should be mentioned here—blood, feed, forage, proper quarters and swine mentality.

BLOOD. For economy, for rate of gain, for one hundred pounds of pork at the lowest feed requirement, an efficient pork machine is essential. Such an animal machine is possible only through the use of high grade of class sires who have back of them many generations whose worth has been proven in size of litter, in growthiness of offspring, in milk producing qualities, in pounds of pork produced and in rate of gain.

FEED. To attain a satisfactory mark on the measuring stick—cost of production, a common sense method of feeding is imperative. Such a system must include regularity; a cent success.

DRAFT HORSE FACTS

"It takes about 50,000 horses a year to maintain the horse population of the State of Pennsylvania. During the last twenty years a large portion of these horses have been imported from other states and there has been little interest in the breeding of good horses.

"The idea that the tractor will replace the horse on the farm is an illusion. The tractor will never do more than supplement the horse in agriculture. This is especially true in a state where the farms on the average are small.

"Without question many of the farmers of the state could profitably raise their own supply of horses. The idea that a mare, if she raises a colt, should be turned out in the pasture all summer and do no work is all wrong. A pair of mares when properly handled and fed can raise their colts and do almost their full share of work. The average farmer cannot afford to keep a mare just to raise a colt, but many farmers would find it profitable to raise at least their own horses, and where conditions are favorable a few horses to sell. It does not pay to raise a poor horse any more than it does to raise a poor cow. The only kind of a horse it pays the farmer to raise is a good-sized, sound draft horse."

FRED RASMUSSEN, Secretary of Agriculture, of Pennsylvania.

POTATO CLUBS

In last month's Livestock edition, an invitation was extended to boys and girls between the ages of eight and twenty who desired to join the Potato Club contest. Since that time inquiries have come from boys all over the County, asking to be admitted to this Club. We are sorry to state that it will be impossible to take in boys and girls from districts over fifteen or twenty miles from Clearfield or DuBois, as it is the business men in those two towns who are back of the Club Work, and who will donate the potatoes.

There are still some potatoes available for the boys and girls within the vicinity of Clearfield and DuBois. We will be glad to have their names at once.

The grocer can't run his business without a scale and a memorandum book. Grocers have found this out and don't try to get along without them.

Many dairymen are still trying to run their business without a scale or a milk sheet, but they are playing a losing game, when a little effort would put their cows and feeding on a real business basis.

A balanced ration obtained by adding to home grown grains a small amount of a good quality protein supplement, preferably of animal origin. Lastly, the hogs' taste demands palatability and variety, their stomachs a concentrated mixture and their bony framework add vital tissues, ample mineral matter.

GREEN LEGUMES. To insure the best thrift and vigor in swine and as an aid in warding off disease, green feed is paramount. Legumes manufacture food nutrients from the soil and air. By combining the nutritious succulent, leguminous crop with a proper grain mixture, a twenty-five per cent saving in the feed bill is assured. For average farm conditions one hundred pounds of pork can be produced at the lowest unit cost via the forage crop and grain route.

QUARTERS. Admitting the outstanding importance of Blood, Feed and Forage, the pork raiser will still fall short of the most desirable results if dry, sanitary sleeping quarters and well drained, roomy outside lots are not provided for the breeding herd as well as the growing pig.

MENTALITY. Mentality in swine raising is a factor at the proper time of year, care of the sow at farrowing, successful rearing of pigs to weaning age and the ever alertness of the feeder to do those things which make for one-hundred per cent success.

FACTORS IN THE SUCCESSFUL RAISING OF CHICKS BY ONE WHO KNOWS HOW

P. L. SANFORD, Poultry Extension Department, Pennsylvania State College.

Housing. For the successful rearing of chicks there are certain fundamental practices that must be followed. The detailed method of putting these into practice will vary greatly, but nevertheless for the most economical and profitable results in the long run, the fundamentals must be observed.

We could properly consider housing first. The College has a bulletin on poultry houses in which brooder houses 12x16 feet is portrayed. This is ideal for about 350 chicks are enough to place under any hover in a single group. While there are brooder stoves on the market advertised to take care of more, the above statement holds. Possibly finances will not permit so large a house for 300 to 350 chicks. If such is the case, build one 12x16 feet and place a temporary partition in it until the chicks are weaned from the stoves. Then place a stove in either end with about 300 under each stove. This proves more desirable than building two small houses. Even this however is not as satisfactory as having the larger house for about 300 to 350 chicks.

Brooder Stoves. There are many satisfactory makes of brooders on the market. As a rule the coal oil brooder has not proved as satisfactory early in the season as the hard coal stove. As far as the correct temperature for a stove is concerned, the chick is the best indication of that. In general a temperature of about 100 degrees at the edge of the hover an inch off the floor is satisfactory for the first few days. Be sure your thermometer is accurate.

Feeding Schedule For Chicks.

The first day ration should consist of fine chick feed or rolled oats in which has been mixed a large percentage of fine grit. As soon as the chicks learn to eat the grain, it should be scattered in a litter where they will have to exercise. Feed them sparingly four or five times a day. It is very easy to overfeed young chicks with cracked grains and care should be taken to keep them always hungry for more.

ate by testing with another in warm water.

Range. To stay in the poultry business, good clean pullets, free from disease and intestinal worms must be produced. The greatest source of contamination is the ground over which the birds must range. The best way to cure gape worms, intestinal worms, coccidiosis, or any other chick disease is to prevent the original infection by providing clean range. By the time the chicks are a week old they should be on the ground, even should it be necessary to shovel away the snow to do it. If we produce clean pullets on clean ground and put them in clean houses that are clean because they have been cleansed, the danger from disease is reduced to a minimum.

Feeding Chicks. More chicks die each year from the result of poor feeding than from any other cause. Most of the bowel trouble in little chicks is caused by over-feeding or feeding too soon after hatching.

Sour milk or buttermilk is the best food for growing chickens. It should be the first food given and should be before them as long as it can possibly be obtained.

The first day ration should consist of fine chick feed or rolled oats in which has been mixed a large percentage of fine grit. As soon as the chicks learn to eat the grain, it should be scattered in a litter where they will have to exercise. Feed them sparingly four or five times a day. It is very easy to overfeed young chicks with cracked grains and care should be taken to keep them always hungry for more.

WHY A FEED MUST BE DIGESTIBLE TO GET RESULTS

It's not what a cow eats, but what she digests that counts. You might feed a cow wood, as chemical analysis shows that wood has a high percentage of carbohydrates, but (this doesn't do the cow any good because she can't digest it.

Protein is found abundantly in tankage and other substances. But these substances are not fit to be the cow's digestive system and are, therefore, useless as a dairy ration.

Take corn: A cow will digest seventy-five pounds out of every one hundred pounds of corn, but only thirty-three pounds out of one hundred pounds of cottonseed hulls. That means that sixty-seven per cent of the cottonseed hulls fed to a cow is wasted.

These figures also vary according to the different nutrients.

Of the protein in oat hulls, only fifty per cent is digestible, while in linseed meal, cottonseed meal and gluten feed, eighty-five to eighty-nine per cent of the protein will be digested by the cow.

This all goes to show that the crude analysis which you will find printed on the tags attached to feed bags and State tax tags, may be misleading. A cow can't read a tag, and she is the one who has to digest the feed. So the way for you to supply her with the right kind of raw materials to keep her machine working order, is to feed, not according to what the tag says, but according to the way her digestive juices work on it.

It stands to reason that the more a cow can digest, the more she can produce in the way of milk, so it is up to us to find out how we can help the cow digest her feed, and what kinds of feed provide the materials needed for milk.

We have already seen that the ration must be bulky, so that it is sure to go into the first stomach and be re-chewed as cud. Then a feed must be palatable. You wouldn't like porridge without salt, cream or sugar, because it would be tasteless. The more you like some kind of food, the more you will eat of them. It's just the same with a cow; she digests a palatable feed much better than one she doesn't relish. This is an important point because the milk flow depends largely upon the quantity of feed eaten.

The average cow needs about sixteen pounds of digestible nutrients a day to maintain her body and produce three and one-half gallons of milk. Half of this sixteen pounds goes for body maintenance and half for milk.

If she doesn't like her feed, and consumes only twelve pounds, what happens? The cow needs eight pounds to maintain her body, so her milk-making material is cut down to four pounds.

The cow might draw on her body for a time, but it makes her dry up more quickly, and actually shortens her life. Remember this, that it's the feed over and above what she needs to maintain her body that goes into the making of milk.

When you are buying a feed for your cow, remember how she likes to sit down to a meal where you have a big, thick, juicy, tender steak. You can't feel your mouth water, can't big aid to digestion.

TURKEY RAISING

By MISS SARA REITZ, Broadacres Farm, Burnside, Pennsylvania.

HATCHING TIME

The hatching of a brood of turkey hens is carried on in a little different manner than it is with the ordinary chicken. For the person who is a lover of turkeys, it is an easy matter to keep an eye on them during the beginning of the laying season and note the egg laid in an open nest by each individual hen. We egg band each of our hens and it is an easy matter to know the individual turkey the same as you can know people, and place her name, or leg band number on the egg. Each bird lays an egg quite different from the others and one soon becomes familiar with each hen's egg.

The turkey hen has the instinct of hiding her nest, and one should take care to know where the nests are located and gather eggs frequently during chilly weather as they will soon become unfit for hatching. The arrangement that we use consists of the roosting shed is a wire covered runway, eighteen feet wide and one hundred feet long, where the nests are located in various places with the ground not in direct view. We have an ordinary packing case for each with good success. Sometimes is brought about by having a bundle of wood cut out for an entrance at the end.

It is the best plan to set the eggs as soon after being laid as can be done conveniently. When holding eggs any length of time, I put them in a box containing bran, placing the small and large and turn each one slightly each day. The temperature of the room for holding hatching eggs should be around fifty-five or sixty degrees.

Sometimes we find it rather a hard job for the little chicks to get out of the shell, and to reason I dampen the water in the tank the last few days before the hatch comes out. It takes four weeks for turkey eggs to hatch.

I use White Plymouth Rock hens to hatch the eggs. Each hen eight eggs. When the hatch is completed I place the hen in a small compartment with a large brooder house with twenty-five baby turkeys. She is provided with an outdoor runway enclosed with eighteen inch wire. The foster mother will naturally be as long as she is fed properly. We have found the use of the large brooder house well worth while. When spring shows come up quite suddenly the hen will take her brood and seek shelter, thus preventing the milk, so it is up to us to find out how we can help the cow digest her feed, and what kinds of feed provide the materials needed for milk.

We have already seen that the ration must be bulky, so that it is sure to go into the first stomach and be re-chewed as cud. Then a feed must be palatable. WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glen Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to stand on my feet and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonials about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHILL, Glen Falls, N. Y.

SHOE STYLE AND SHOE VALUE THAT REMAIN SUPREME ALWAYS

Seven Points of Supremacy

1. The sole leather used in "FOOT-FITTERS" is of the best quality obtainable. Even the linings are cut from standard sole leather.
2. "FOOT-FITTERS" are the only shoes in the world having full length vamp and sole leather box toes. (This feature prevents slipping at the tip and makes a smooth outer and inner surface.)
3. The insoles are shocker channels so that they fit tightly against the outside. There is no need of room for a cork filler. A small piece of cork is used to prevent squeaking.
4. The calf skin inside counter pocket is of great value, for it moves the wear on the heels. There is no rough surface to rub against.
5. "FOOT-FITTERS" heels are 1 1/2 inches longer than generally used. They give additional support to the arch and increase the comfort and wear of the shoe.
6. The vamp is reinforced with 5 oz. duck. This absorbs the moisture from the feet, thus keeping the shoes dry and preventing the shoes from becoming stiff.
7. Edmonds' "FOOT-FITTERS" shoes are made on a "FOOT-FITTER" machine. They are foot shaped, built on a comfortable last, and have a perfect fit. They are the doctor's leader.

YOU NEVER WERE OFFERED A BETTER VALUE IN YOUR LIFE THAN THIS $7.50

A CONGOLEUM RUG FOR EVERY ROOM IN THE HOUSE

Time was when "oilcloth" was thought of as purely a kitchen floor covering. Now, since the designers have wrought so well, there is a CONGOLEUM RUG for every room in your home. And they will stand the wear and tear of heavy shoes for a long time.

Come in and let us show you the Rug for every room.

ROSS AND WOODS GENERAL MERCHANDISE

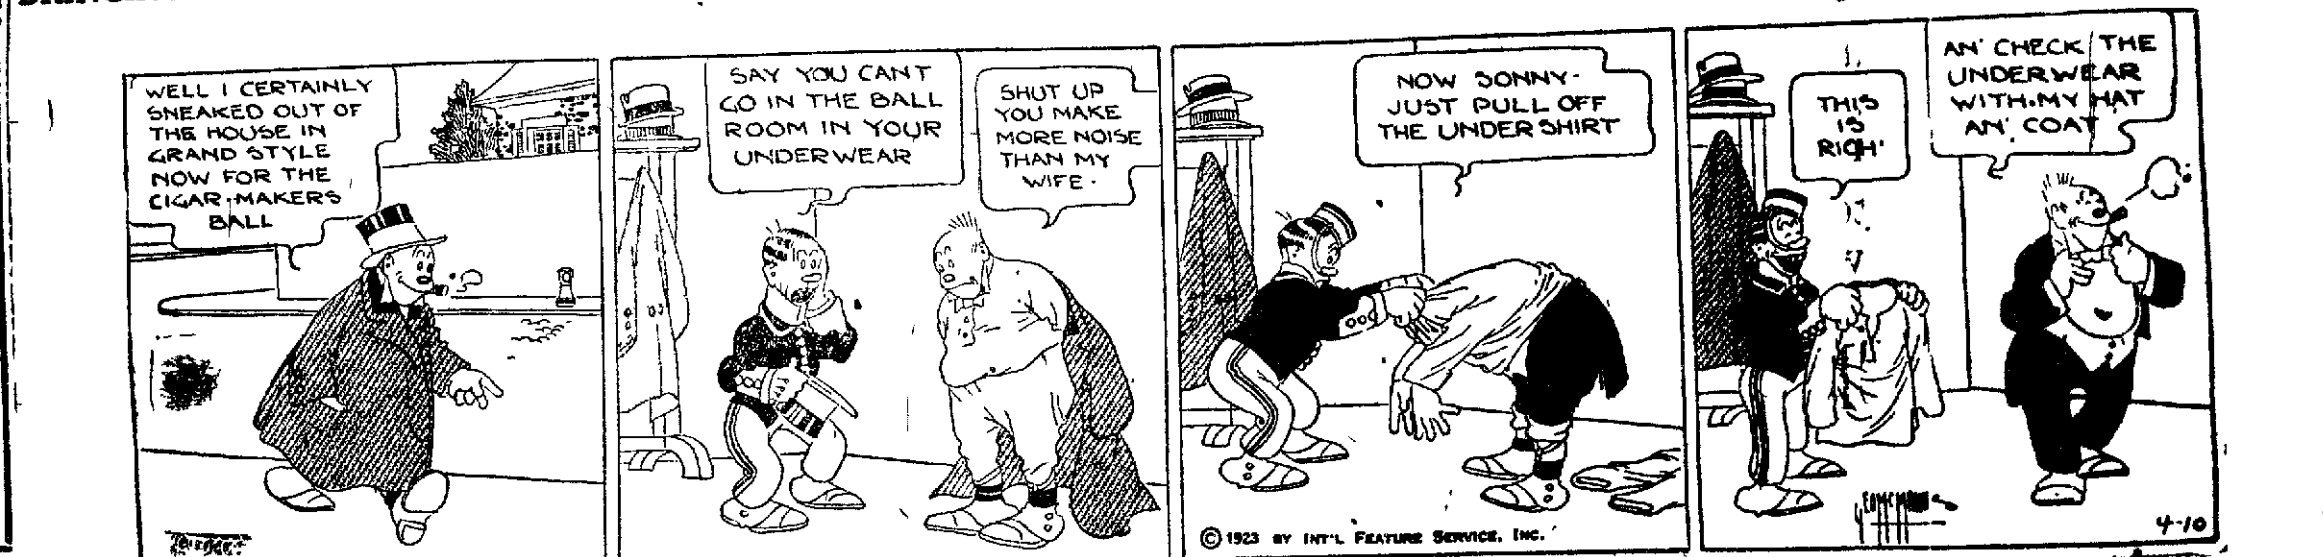

NOTHING grows into money so fast as chickens. When new hatched, they cost a few cents each but the early pullets when matured and laying are paying handsome dividends on a value of $10.00 each. Now "Don't lose them." Save them all by feeding BABY BUSTER and BONNIE BOOSTER CHICK FEED.

BABY BUSTER is a hard grain chick feed containing dried fish, and BONNIE BOOSTER is a soft grain food containing dried buttermilk. Both fish and buttermilk are high in vitamin content, and essential to the chickens' thrift and growth.

DRUGS EXCITE the Kidneys. Drink Water

Take Salts at First Sign
Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American man and woman are guard against kidney trouble because we often eat too much salt. Our blood is filled with acids and the kidneys strive to filter out the excess from the system. If the kidneys are overworked, the blood is not properly purified and a general toxin is introduced into the system. This toxin is the cause of many of the ailments of modern life. It is the cause of the headache, the backache, the rheumatism, the indigestion, the constipation, the nervousness, the irritability, the depression, the loss of sleep, the loss of appetite, the loss of energy, the loss of vitality, the loss of youth, the loss of life.

COMB HAIR AND IT STAYS COMBED, GLOSSY

Greaseloss Combing Cream Costs Only
Few Cents a Jar at any Drug Store

Even obstinate, unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Millions use greaseloss, stainless "Hair-Groom" because it does not show on the hair. It is absorbed by the scalp, therefore the hair remains so soft and pliable and so natural that no one can possibly tell you used it. Not sticky or smelly.

Announcing

Our Co-Operation in the New Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

Following out our policy of extending the facilities of this bank in whatever way we can to serve the public, we have arranged to give our co-operation to the new Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

We realize what the automobile means to the average family in bringing them greater enjoyment of life, and believe our action in helping those who desire to become Ford owners will be appreciated by many families who can now realize that ambition through the new Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Under this plan, you can begin with an initial deposit as low as $5.00. Then select the type of Ford you want—Touring Car, Runabout, Coupe, Sedan, etc.—and arrange to make weekly deposits on which interest will be computed at our regular savings rate.

Come in and let us explain the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan to you or, if you wish, go to the nearest Ford Dealer for further details.

Start today, and before you realise it you will be driving your own car.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Can't sniff! Your cold or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more sneezing, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Rub from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

SATISFIED CUSTOMERS

If customers made but one visit to our store we would soon be forced out of business. Our progress is dependent upon return calls and upon ability to serve you courteously with what you want, at a satisfactory price. When we buy merchandise the leading thought we have in mind is, "Will this prove satisfactory to our customers?" We avoid the cheap, the shoddy and the second grade. A small profit counts better than a big profit once. The satisfied customer is the best advertisement.

CLOCK REPAIRS

The repairing of all kinds of clocks, from the little purring French clock up to the great stately Grandfather's clocks, is a big feature of our work.

We have had experience with all kinds of clock manufacture and this gives us an insight into how to repair them best.

If you have a clock that hasn't run rightly for some time bring it here and we will assure you that when we are finished that it will keep good time.

The 1923 SUPERIOR Chevrolet 4-Passenger Sedanette

Here is the first motor car of this character ever offered in the less-than-$1000 class. It is a social and sport car of refined type at the astonishingly low price of $850. It carries an air of distinction especially appreciated by women. The beautifully designed Fisher Body seats four in comfort. Trunk at rear is regular equipment.

QUALITY has been still further improved by more artistic design and added equipment.

ECONOMY has been still further increased by engineering refinements and greatly increased facilities.

SERVICE is now offered on a flat rate basis by 10,000 dealers and service stations.

PRICES of the new line remain the same in spite of added equipment and more expensive construction, which have greatly increased value.

Some Distinctive Features

Streamline body design with high hood; vacuum feed and rear gasoline tank on all models; drum type head lamps with legal lenses. Curtains open with doors of open models. Closed models have plate glass Tarnstedt regulated windows, straight side cord tires, sun visor, windshield wiper and dash light. The Sedanette is equipped with auto trunk on rear.

Do the major league baseball clubs really pay the sums they say they do for minor league ball players such as $100,000 for Willie Kamm, $75,000 for Jimmy O'Connell and $55,000 for Jack Bentley?

BASEBALL BUG

While the major league club owners do not show their books, there is some doubt about the huge prices paid for players. Deals usually called for so much cash and so many players, the value of which players is usually greatly exaggerated. The Giants, under the rule which prohibits them from sending players to non-league leagues, were forced by Commissioner Landis to pay cash for O'Connell. John Farrell, secretary of the minor leagues, claims that the White Sox check for Kamm was $100,000.

"Who is the greatest among the present day top of fight managers?"

R. T. C.

Because it is purely a matter of opinion, that is a hard question to answer, as there are so many angles that must be considered in judging capabilities of a manager. Since the idea of professional boxing seems to be to get big money, perhaps fight managers get for them. On this ground Jack Kearns, the manager of Jack Dempsey, is the greatest of them all. He and Dempsey have made almost a million dollars.

"Why is it that there are no distance runners being developed in the United States?"

J. O. C.

It is not a fact that there are no distance runners being developed in this country. If there are not as many good ones in this country as there are on the other side, it is largely the result of the difference in temperament. The spontaneous dynamic temperament of the average young American finds itself best suited to sprinting and hurdling, while those of the slower, more deliberate, plodding race like the Finns, take naturally to distance running, because they can exist on a fewer number of thrills while they have to come on a minute for the American.

MOST GIRLS SPOON, 1,000 ADMIT IT

New York, April 4.—The prevalence of spooning is shown in replies received by the Bureau of Social Hygiene founded by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to a frank questionnaire.

It was circulated in what is termed the first exhaustive scientific investigation on that has been made of the sex life of the normal, educated woman.

A report prepared by Dr. Katherine Benedict Davis, general secretary of the Bureau, on replies received from 1,010 married women in various parts of the country show 375 admitted having spooned prior to marriage with other than fiancés; 295 spooned with fiancés only, and 339 never spooned prior to marriage. The question was left unanswered by 28.

Eleven of the 375 failed to specify the extent of their spooning; 21 wrote "not far"; 50 "kissing only";

Eliminate the Grubs.

There are not many houses that do not shelter at least one hideous piece of furniture. This may be a chair with intricate legs or with absurdly carved arms, on which a lion grows or an eagle three feet high. It may be an old-fashioned sideboard with all sorts of meaningless, gilded ornaments. Even good lines in furniture cannot make good a chair with a hideous back, in which an effort to achieve beauty is made. Often it is by clearing away the most strikingly ugly pieces that harmony is achieved. The idea that only by adding to the objects in the house can we add to the beauty of the interior is far from correct.

Australian "Pearl Farm." A curious farm is that situated in Torres Straits, at the most northern point of Australia. It is known as a "pearl farm" and covers about 3,000 square miles. As a matter of fact this farm is a plateau covered with a flow water, and there are found more than 200 persons irregularly employed in gathering pearls from which pearls are taken. These pearls are sold in London for about a quarter of a million dollars.

THE EFFECT OF FEED ON THE RICHNESS OF MILK

Some feed gives milk a rich, yellow color. This has led to a great deal of confusion about the effect of different feeds on the butter fat test or the quantity of cream in the milk which a cow produces. The fact is that each individual cow makes milk of a certain quality. In general, Jerseys and Guernseys give higher test milk than Holsteins and Ayrshires. There is no possible way of feeding a Holstein cow which naturally gives about four per cent milk so that she will give the five and one-half per cent butter fat milk which many Jerseys give. A sudden change of feed, such as turning on pasture, will temporarily change the butter fat test, but after a very short time it will come right back to the natural average of the particular cow.

A cow's milk varies from day to day in richness. There is a general average, however, which all cows show, throughout the lactation period. For the first eleven or twelve weeks after freshening the average test falls off slightly, then begins to rise slowly to the eighth month, after which it takes quite a rapid rise until the cow is dry.

HOW TO STOP A SELF- SUCKING COW

One of the simplest and surest methods of breaking a cow of sucking herself is to put an old work bridle on her. The bit of the bridle should be divided in the middle.

This will stop the confounded sucker. The bit will bother her for a day or two, but she will soon get used to it. This method does not interfere with the cow moving around as she desires.

Twenty-five Million Dollars' worth of New Equipment will be added to the Bell System in Pennsylvania this year

HALF a million miles of new wire, thirty-five new building operations, seventy thousand new telephones, ten million dollars' worth of central office equipment—such is our program for 1923.

And all this in addition to the tremendous amounts of new plant added in the last three years, which was more than in any six previous years in Pennsylvania's telephone history.

There is an enormous demand for telephone service. Twenty-five million dollars in one year is our effort to meet this demand.

Your system demands ALL BRAN If constipation is to be relieved!

Your system needs the "roughage" that Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, supplies. For, it will not only permanently relieve constipation if it is eaten regularly, but its full content of the vital elements of wheat will build health and strength in a wonderful way.

You need bran in its full and vital strength and that's what you get in Kellogg's Bran—ALL BRAN. It's a spoonful means so much in promoting relief in a way that nature planned. Foods with a bran mixture cannot be digested by the man, woman or child who lives with a constipated system. You must have ALL BRAN—roughage that will sweep and clean and purify and bring health back! Children should be given Kellogg's Bran each day; grown people should does, however, raise important questions and points out the necessity for further study in many directions." Questions put to unmarried women included:

"How old were you when you first began to spoon?"

"What effect, as you estimate it now, did spooning have upon the quality of your character?"

"Will you give the reason why you have not married?"

"What things are most stimulating to you?"

Married women and widows were asked these questions:

"Has your married life been a happy one? If not, why not?"

"Were you strongly attracted toward young men?"

"If so, how would you describe this attraction?"

"Did you indulge, with one or more young men in the intimacies usually embraced in the term spooning?"

"If so, how far did you go in spooning?"

Dr. Davis said that it would take several months to tabulate the answers received to the questionnaire sent to unmarried women.

"We have received more than 1,000 answers, comprising more than 12,000 pages of manuscript to the questionnaire sent to unmarried women," she declared. "I do not believe the tabulation of those answers will be completed before summer."
